Nixon Lists Emergency Energy Measures

Gas, Heating Oil Supplies Reduced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is cutting the amount of gasoline available to motorists and heating oil for homes—both by 15 per cent—in an energy belt-tightening which he says is only a start.

He announced he would lower speed limits across America, close gasoline stations part of each weekend, limit aviation fuel and curtail Christmas and ornamental lighting in an effort to deal with the energy crisis.

He asked gas stations voluntarily to close from 9 p.m. each Saturday until midnight Sunday, starting next weekend. Nixon said he would use emergency powers to make this mandatory as soon as he gets an energy bill from Congress, perhaps by mid-December. The rationing program for heating oil is to take effect Jan. 1.

Other steps foresee a cut in electric power during peak demand periods—reductions called brownouts.

In a broadcast address Sunday calling for "discipline, self-restraint and unity," Nixon outlined steps to overcome somewhat more than half of the anticipated overall shortage of 17 per cent in petroleum this winter. He did not say what steps would be taken to meet the remaining shortage.

Nixon acknowledged economic dislocations were likely, and promised to try to see "that any disruptions to our economy which may occur are short-lived and that they do not cause lasting damage."

The country uses some 17 million barrels of petroleum a day. By mid-winter, a daily shortfall of 3.5 million barrels had been anticipated before Nixon acted to cut consumption. He took some immediate steps and announced others to be taken when armed with power by Congress.

These immediate steps were announced:—A cutback in heating oil deliveries starting Jan. 1 under regulations to be published Tuesday. Deliveries to homes are to be cut 15 per cent, to commercial and business places by 25 per cent and to industrial users by 10 per cent. Anticipated saving: 530,000 barrels a day.

—Refineries will be told to cut deliveries of gasoline to gas stations and wholesalers by 10 per cent of last year's demand. Since demand grows steadily, this amounts to a 15 per cent cutback below present day demand. Regulations will be published in December for this indirect form of rationing, which is to save 900,000 barrels a day.

—Jet fuel deliveries to domestic airlines will be cut 5 per cent Dec. 1 and 15 per cent Jan. 7, 1974. International airlines will be reduced to their 1972 levels Dec. 1 and by 15 per cent Jan. 7. A 220,000 barrel daily saving is anticipated after Jan. 7.

—Regulations to be published Tuesday and effective Dec. 7 will prevent power plants and industries from switching from coal to oil.

These steps were announced for after Congress completes action on the energy bill:

—A nationwide speed limit of 55 miles per hour for cars and 55 m.p.h. for trucks and buses, which run more efficiently at the higher speed. In the meantime, states were urged to adopt those limits and motorists to comply voluntarily. A 200,000 gallon daily saving was foreseen.

—A ban from 9 p.m. Saturdays to midnight Sunday on the sale of gasoline for automobiles, trucks, pleasure boats, private airplanes and recreational vehicles. Nixon asked gas stations to voluntarily comply this weekend. A 50,000 gallon daily saving was anticipated.

—Prohibition of the use of outdoor lighted signs except when business places are open.

—A prohibition on the use of Christmas lights outside homes or businesses.

As he had in his first energy crisis address three weeks ago,

Nixon asked householders to set the thermostat at 68 degrees.

Nixon said the White House would forego outside Christmas lighting this year, but he announced no plans to curtail his personal travel to his home at Key Biscayne, Fla. or his weekend retreat at Camp David, Md. His trips in the midst of a fuel shortage have drawn criticism in Congress and elsewhere.

John Love, Nixon's energy adviser, told reporters even the national Christmas tree, on the ellipse south of the White House, will be dark this year. But Gerald L. Warren, presidential press spokesman, said later it would have lights, but only 10 per cent as many as in years past.

Meanwhile, citizens in seven countries of Western Europe had a chance to display their inventiveness as a growing number of industrialized nations banned Sunday driving to save fuel in the face of Arab oil cutbacks.

West Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, Luxembourg and Liechtenstein joined Holland and Belgium in banning a total of nearly 25 million vehicles from their highways to save oil supplies.

Most of the seven nations' 94 million population stayed at home, but a few exhibited a little of the same originality that led to the invention of the automobile in the first place.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt called on his countrymen to "show each other what solidarity and inventiveness can do."

DARKENED SCENE—The Christmas lighting displays outside Macy's (left) and Ohrbach's (right) department stores in New York City are darkened Sunday night following President Nixon's address to the nation regarding the energy crisis. According to executives in selected department stores in New York, many Christmas displays are already out. Some stores will be dimmed after dark, but remain open. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Station Owners Upset Over Closing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Service station owners reacting to President Nixon's energy message say they will for the most part voluntarily close on Sundays. But many of them are either skeptical of the effects Sunday closings will have or upset because they say their income is being cut.

Reaction to Nixon's speech also came quickly from homeowners, politicians and businessmen. But gas station owners were the most vocal.

"A Sunday sales halt probably will effect some fuel savings, but will kill off marginal gas stations," said Walter F. Stein of Columbus, the Ohio representative to the National Congress of Petroleum Dealers.

There were station owners who echoed Phil Benson, a Shell station manager in Phoenix. "We'll just have to tighten our belts a little. This is an emergency," he said. "There is a shortage, and if we don't cooperate now, when the government comes down hard, we'll have nothing at all."

Most station managers contacted after Nixon's Sunday night address said they would comply, but some were upset.

Some said the 15 per cent cut in gasoline production which Nixon will order will cut their profits unless the government allows them a greater profit margin. Others said the production cut would run them out of business. Representatives of dealers associations said that since the great majority of stations are closed anyway on Sunday, the closing would have little of its anticipated effect.

Nixon also said Sunday night that he wants legislation to set mandatory speed limits of 55 miles per hour for cars and 55 m.p.h. for buses and trucks. He also said he will sign legislation cutting heating oil by 15 per cent to consumers, 10 per cent to industry and 25 per cent to commercial businesses.

Govs. Tom McCall of Oregon and David Hall of Oklahoma certainly get through this difficult time."

But one industry executive doubted the public would observe 50 m.p.h. speed limits if they see buses and trucks whizzing by them.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp urged an immediate ban on all American oil exports and a restriction on oil company prices. He said unless such a restriction was imposed, "then the people are being asked to sacrifice more than the oil companies."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a leading congressional proponent of strong government actions to deal with the energy crisis, said Nixon's actions were "phase one of what looks to be another string of phases. More and stronger action must follow this."

Homeowners and business men contacted after Nixon's speech were generally supportive of his proposals.

"I've been looking at the new car now and then see it sit in the garage," he said.

"Anyway, a couple of dealers I talked to won't even give me what my old car (a full-sized Maxine Morgan of Conneaut, 1972 Buick Electra) is worth and they want sticker price for the smaller model I was looking at."

General Motors Corp., the world's largest automaker, said it already has reacted to the cent fuel reduction, as did per slump in sales which have hit sons in areas which had a mild winter last year.

Meanwhile, President Nixon's subcompact and luxury models new energy-saving measures are selling at record or near-record rates with a wait of two months not uncommon for some sales even lower.

CM plans to shut 16 of its plants during the Christmas week before Christmas, cutting message was from General Motors, which said: "We share cars from its production line and believe if we schedule,

Right Wing Generals Take Over Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — had been put under house arrest last week in the wake of the student uprising in which 13 persons were killed. The three — ex-Premier Panagiotis Karamanlis and for-mer ministers John Zighdis and George Pavlopoulos — had expressed support for the students demanding the overthrow of Papadopoulos.

Despite this overtone to the foes of military rule, the new regime indicated it was junking Papadopoulos' promise of a return to limited parliamentary government next year. The generals said they could not stand by while the country was "dragged into an electoral adventure" and was threatened by "anarchy, chaos and vandalism," an apparent reference to the student uprisings.

In one of his first official acts, the new president, Lt. Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, freed Gizikis, who commanded the 1st Army, and his associates moved swiftly against those considered loyal to Papadopoulos.

They ousted the commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos; the army chief, Lt. Gen. Michael Mastrandoni; the air force commander, Air Vice Marshal Thomas Mitsanias; the Athens police chief, Nicholas Daskalopoulos; and Premier Spyros Markezinis and his cabinet.

The navy chief, Rear Adm. Petros Arapakis, was the only service chief to escape the purge.

The new regime was also reported purging the hierarchy of the vast state police network that Papadopoulos built up in the seven years after his colonels' junta overthrew Greece's last parliamentary government, Adamantios Androutsopoulos, who had been finance minister, was named premier. He heads a cabinet of retired generals, a retired admiral and conservative politicians.

Gizikis, who is in his mid-50s, is described as a rightist, a staunch supporter of Greece's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a friend of ex-King Constantine. But there was no indication that the new president would reverse Papadopoulos' abolition of the monarchy last June.

Some observers expressed belief that Gizikis is not the real power in the new government.

There was speculation that the architect of the coup and the new strongman is Dimitrios Ioannidis, the military police chief.

Some sources said Papadopoulos had tried unsuccessfully to ease Ioannidis out. Ioannidis was also said to have been infuriated when Papadopoulos waited for four days before moving to put down the student uprising.

"President George Papadopoulos was so busy fighting off the Left that he forgot to look to his right," one Athenian commented after the bloodless overthrow of the former army colonel who ruled Greece for the past seven years.

The uprising of leftist students that Papadopoulos quelled last weekend apparently was a major factor in the generals' decision to oust the president Sunday. But according to the slim evidence available, Greece's new rulers appear to be farther to the right than Papadopoulos.

The student riots "may have been the straw that broke the camel's back," one veteran observer said. "Papadopoulos moved too slowly against the students, dissatisfying many of his hard-line military backers."

One of the officers most often mentioned as probably a major mover in the coup is Brig. Dimitrios Ioannidis, who heads the military police. He successfully resisted attempts by Papadopoulos earlier this year to have him transferred to a less sensitive post. The armed forces chief, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos, also maneuvered to have Ioannidis transferred, and the new regime dismissed him Sunday.

Judge Sirica Getting Tapes

ROSE MARY WOODS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's Watergate tapes will be turned over to federal judge John J. Sirica this afternoon, White House lawyers said today.

The disclosure came as Sirica reopened hearings into the tapes.

Sirica said he would "have custody" of the tapes "some time this afternoon."

No further details were immediately revealed.

After announcing that he would be given the tapes today, Sirica looked at White House lawyer Leonard Garment who rose from his chair and nodded his head.

The first witness called was Nixon's special assistant and personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods.

She was summoned to testify about how she apparently erased an 18-minute section of one of the tapes. A White House source said she "inadvertently" erased part of the tape while transcribing it.

"However rough the seas are, I don't get seasick," Nixon said. "It's the captain's job to bring the ship into port. I can assure you, you don't have to worry about me getting seasick or jumping ship."

Related stories on page 24.

"I'm going to stay at that helm until I bring it into port." The President, using metaphors of the sea, issued his latest of many frequent denials of any intention to resign toward the end of his speech.

Mostly, he talked about the nation's energy problems and how Americans would have to face up to them.

The Seafarers union president, Paul Hall, introduced Nixon as "a great maritime President."

Hall was the only member of the 35-man AFL-CIO Executive Committee who voted last month against a resolution at the federation's national convention calling for impeachment of Nixon.

Nixon appeared at the seafarers' convention following publication by Time magazine of a report that investigators for Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski were looking into a $100,000 contribution by the union to the Nixon reelection campaign.

The White House's announcement last week that the 18 minutes of tape contained nothing but a hum prompted Sirica to ask for the tapes for safekeeping. Before that the judge and White House lawyers were in the process of negotiating a step-by-step turnover of the tapes.

Another administration source reported that Miss Woods has hired an attorney, Charles B. Rhyne, former president of the American Bar Association and a former Duke Law School classmate and old friend of President Nixon.

In other developments:

—Sen. Charles McC Mathias, R-Md., said Sunday that President Nixon probably will be impeached if he fails to respond to "the general outcry for full disclosure" on Watergate. He was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation."

—Some of the GOP governors whom Nixon told in Memphis, Tenn., last week that he had no more Watergate bombshells to disclose, expressed disappointment on learning of the 18-minute tape gap. Said Gov. Dan Evans of Washington Saturday: "... he just didn't square with us, level with us."

—Attorney Robert Washak of Beverly Hills, Calif., said he might ask Donald Nixon, the President's brother, to give a sworn deposition about government surveillance which the President has said was put on Donald Nixon's phone. Washak represents John Meier, former aide to billionaire Howard Hughes.

Salvation Army Kettle Opens for Christmas

The Salvation Army Christmas kettles have become a familiar sight around the nation since their inception in 1891. Money, in the words of Capt. Youth Invited to be Stockaders As Part of County Bi-Centennial KINGSTON — "You are part of Ulster County — its past and its present," read the flyers received today by thousands of students in elementary and secondary schools throughout the county.

It was the Stockade Committee's way of inviting all students interested in learning about the past and their present — and in being a part of their future to become Junior Associate Members of The Stockade Committee, Inc., an organization dedicated to fostering, preserving, and perpetuating in the youth of the county, the geographic, historic, cultural and socio-economic development of the place in which they live.

Taking as its theme the words of Abraham Lincoln, who once said, "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives, I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him," the Stockade Committee seeks to enroll young people of all ages in its prideful program.

An a pioneering program it is — one that could put Kingston and the surrounding area in the same classification as such historic sites as Sturbridge, Williamsburg and Plymouth.

Already underway is a Young People's Museum, to be established as part of the New York State Museum on the Senate House grounds here. And Young people who become Junior Associate Members (at the small fee of only $1 for annual dues) will qualify as museum aides and helpers.

To be a "Stockader" will also make youngsters eligible to conduct tours of Kingston's Stockade area as costumed guides, and enroll in learning courses about a wealth of historic subjects ranging from such olden day crafts as blacksmithing, tanning and weaving to such historic topics as the Hudson River, area architecture over the years and railroads.

With the Bicentennial celebration just around the corner, the Stockade Committee and all Stockaders will be playing an important part in local festivities. And, hopefully, thousands of those students who received those thousands of applications today will become members in this most worthy new group. They can do so by sending $1 to a box number no one will have difficulty remembering, since the organization's address will be Uptown Box 1776, Kingston, now and as far into the future as Ulster County youth are interested in their prideful heritage.

Driver Loses in Saugerties Chase

SAUGERTIES — A high speed chase through the village followed, with Cosme arrested a 22-year-old Kingston man Sunday for first degree reckless endangerment, reckless driving and eight vehicle and traffic citations.

Police said the man allegedly tried to run down an officer with his car, and didn't surrender to authorities until police fired a shot through his windshield.

Phillip F. Cosme of Kingston was committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. He is scheduled for another court appearance Tuesday night.

Village police said the incident began at about 2:15 a.m. Sunday when a youth identified as 19-year-old Frank Disclafani of Saugerties took an auto that had been impounded by police. He was later stopped by police. At that point, police allege that Cosme jumped into his friend's car and drove away.

Leaders of 17 Arab Nations Holding Summit Conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Leaders of 17 Arab nations are gathering in Algiers in search of a unified approach to the proposed peace conference with Israel.

The Israeli government said it is willing in principle to begin the conference in Geneva Dec. 18. But Egypt, although it also has expressed willingness to participate, was reported reluctant to start the conference until there is some withdrawal of Israeli troops along the Suez Canal.

Negotiations between Israel and Egypt for a joint troop withdrawal were deadlocked.

The Arab summit conference in Algiers was aimed at developing "a course of action ready to face any development," one informant in Algiers said.

"This would include more fighting if diplomatic efforts fail, plus economic pressure to create a favorable international climate."

But the first pan-Arab meeting since the October war was plagued in advance by characteristic Arab disunity. Iraq and Libya were boycotting the meeting, claiming it would only lead to capitulation to Israel. And King Hussein of Jordan sent a representative to avoid an embarrassing face-to-face confrontation with Yasir Arafat and other Palestinian guerrilla leaders who reject Hussein's claim to speak for the Palestinians in Jordan.

Foreign ministers of the 17 states met in Algiers Saturday and Sunday to draft resolutions for submission to their chiefs.

Conference sources said it was hoped the result would be at least the framework of a pan-Arab program of action.

The Israeli cabinet announced that, while it is willing to attend the proposed Geneva conference, Premier Golda Meir would give her final decision after Israel receives a formal invitation.

The Israelis have been trying to delay the peace conference until after their national election Dec. 31. Government sources said the conference can't get down to substantive negotiations until after the new political lineup in Israel is decided.

At Kilometer 101 on the Suez-Cairo road, meanwhile, an Israeli-Egyptian negotiating session to discuss new cease-fire lines was cancelled Sunday. Unofficial sources said the two sides have agreed to an Israeli withdrawal to a line several miles east of the Suez Canal. But Egypt is demanding that it be allowed to leave a full military force on the east bank of the canal, while Israel will permit only a lightly armed police force.

The Israeli military command reported intermittent firing Sunday along both the Suez and Syrian cease-fire lines and said an Israeli soldier was killed in an exchange of artillery and tank fire on the west bank of the Suez Canal, south of the Ismailia-Cairo road. A spokesman said he was the second Israeli soldier to die on the Egyptian front since the cease-fire Oct. 24.

Commandeered Jet Lands Safely

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
BEIRUT (UPI) — Arab guerrillas who commandeered a Dutch jumbo jet with 288 persons aboard forced the plane to land today at Libya's Tripoli airport after a 12-hour drama across Middle East skies.

A spokesman for Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) said all 271 passengers and 17 crewmen aboard the Boeing 747 were in good condition. The Libyan News Agency said it believed there were seven hijackers aboard the plane.

A spokesman for the agency said the plane landed at Tripoli soon after dawn, but two hours later the doors of the craft remained closed. He said nobody tried to get off during that time.

The company official said radio negotiations were going on between the hijackers and a "high Libyan official" in the Tripoli control tower. He did not identify the official.

The plane, the world's largest commercial jet, was seized by the hijackers an hour after taking off from Beirut on a flight to New Delhi. The hijackers ordered the craft back to the Middle East, forced the pilot to land at Damascus where a request for fuel was turned down and then finally

Fuel, Ammunition Ships Reach Cambodian Capital

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Twelve ships carrying fuel, food and ammunition up the Mekong River ran a gauntlet of Communist rocket fire to reach Phnom Penh Sunday night with vital supplies for the refugee-swollen capital.

In South Vietnam, the Viet Cong accused the U.S. Air Force today of flying spy planes over its territory and demanded the alleged missions by high-flying SR71 jets be stopped.

Crew members told UPI reporters the five freighters in the Mekong River convoy were unless the Cypriot government released seven jailed Palestinians. The commandos, however, took off without the prisoners, failing to carry out the threat.

harassing navy patrol boats and convoys moving up the Mekong to Kompong Cham, 45 miles northeast of the capital.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon refused to comment on the Viet Cong claim about American spy flights. A spokesman said, "The United States is scrupulously not violating Article 4 of the Paris Agreement" (which bans American military operations in South Vietnam.)

One interpretation of the peace treaty, however, would allow such flights, since the SR71 Backbird, successor to the U2 spy plane, is unarmed.

Palestinian officials in Algiers for an Arab summit meeting issued a statement deploring the hijacking.

The KLM spokesman in Amsterdam said the plane's captain had reported the hijackers were protesting Dutch aid to Israel in the Middle East war, and wanted to talk to a Dutch diplomat at Tripoli.

The Arabs imposed total oil embargos on Holland and the United States after last month's 17-day Middle East war and cut shipments to other Western nations to prevent them from sending surplus supplies to the two principal targets.

KLM President-Director Sergio Orlandi said one of the hijackers called company headquarters in Amsterdam just before the plane landed in Nicosia, and said in English, "I am the new captain of Flight 861."

Orlandi said the man claimed to be speaking for the National Arab Youth Organization and wanted to contact a Dutch government representative.

Weather Stops Skylab Earth Photography

HOUSTON (UPI) — Flight controllers canceled the first Skylab 3 Earth photography pass because of bad weather and said today all such data-collecting sweeps may be cut short to conserve needed fuel.

Crewmen Gerald P. Carr and William R. Pogue were to train their array of earth cameras across the northern United States before a cloud cover interfered.

Scientist Edward G. Gibson worked today to have Skylab's solar observatory ready for operation by Tuesday.

Flight Director Donald R. Puddy said the length of the rest of the earth resources passes of the flight may be cut in half-down to 15-20 minutes—because it now takes longer to roll the orbiting lab into position.

One of three stabilizing gyroscopes that keep the 100-ton lab in the right position in space has failed, but the ship is still operating satisfactorily on the remaining two.

Puddy said, however, that there might be more separate passes made, meaning just as much data on agriculture, geology, forests, the weather, the oceans and urban areas would be obtained.

"There's nothing we've come across yet that would keep us from obtaining all of the Skylab 3 objectives," he said.

With the cloudy conditions in sight, controllers decided against taking a chance the positioning effort would be wasted. Meteorologists would have been happy with pictures of clouds but other scientists need a good shot of the ground.

The thousands of earth study pictures the first two Skylab crews have made already are producing practical benefits. What may be a giant ore deposit in Nevada and hints on controlling insect infestation in crops in forests are among facts derived from them thus far.

Pioneer 10 Nears Jupiter

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Just a week before Pioneer 10's arrival at Jupiter, the space agency fired the craft's thrusters today in final adjustments to make sure it will fly right.

A tiny mistake now or Tuesday and it will be too late for corrections. Any further firing of thrusters would destroy an important experiment.

This is because the spacecraft itself serves as an instrument which celestial mechanics experts will employ to determine the weight of Jupiter's 12 moons and how the planet mass is distributed.

The moons and the giant planet will affect the spindly, 570-pound spacecraft's trajectory, and the amount of change will be the basis for the calculations.

So accurate is the method that the masses of Jupiter's four largest moons—not even known until Galileo spotted them in 1610 with his telescope—can be figured with an error of only 1 per cent.

Pioneer's trajectory is tracked by Deep Space Network stations at Goldstone, parabolic antenna and radio beam exactly at Earth. After Pioneer passes its target next Monday, a point 81,000 miles from the cloud tops, and continues away from the planet, the thrusters can be fired again.

Now 4.6 million miles from Jupiter and half billion from Earth, Pioneer is the first spacecraft to voyage beyond Mars to explore the outer planets. After Jupiter it is scheduled to pass orbits of Saturn, Uranus and Neptune before becoming the first to escape the solar system.

Reputed Mobster's Son Found Dead

NEW CITY, N.Y. (AP) — Authorities are seeking to determine whether the death of a reputed mobster's 20-year-old son, found shot through the head in a locked car, was suicide or murder.

"The facts suggest suicide," Rockland County Dist. Atty. Robert R. Meehan said Sunday.

The body of the victim, James Pagano, was found Saturday night clad in a brown tuxedo with a red carnation in his lapel. A revolver was on the automobile seat beside him, had stopped for a red light at the intersection of Routes 306 and 202.

Earlier that evening, police said, Pagano had been at the wedding in Clarkstown of his brother, Daniel. Their father is Joseph Pagano, a reputed member of the Vito Genovese family.

Meehan said the dead man, killed by a bullet that had entered at the right temple and exited at the left, was discovered by another driver who

State Cites Rosendale Improvement

By JON POWERS

ROSENDALE report released today by the engineer for the DEC, said in a letter to Village Trustee Mrs. Barbara DeStefano, "In comparing this report with the May 1973 report, we find that the Village has made appreciable maintenance progress."

OFFICERS NAMED—Alan H. Van Heusen (L), of 150 West Main Street, Port Ewen, has been named president of the newly formed Ulster County School Bus Drivers Association. Shown with Van Heusen is Mrs. Karon Clearwater, also of Port Ewen, SBDA secretary. Officers not present when the picture was taken are Frank Hermance, vice president, and Jennie Blaha, treasurer. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

That wasn't the case in December of 1972, when the state actually threatened legal action against the Village of Rosendale for permitting the flood control project to deteriorate. The state said the village neglected to properly maintain the site.

But between that December report and another inspection in May, 1973, the village made substantial progress in correcting the deficiencies. Now, the state says the village has made even greater progress.

According to Wege, projects which the Village completed this year include: "restoration of the grade around the head-wall of drainage structure No. 1; the removal of the shipping bolts from drainage structure No. 1, thus allowing the flap gate to operate; performed levee maintenance; ordered certain replacement parts for the sluice gates; and initiated a brush control program. In addition, it was observed that the pump station was trial tested every few months as requested."

Wege continued, "The only other items requiring attention at this time are the replacement of the riprap behind 'The Well,' some levee maintenance behind the old post office and continuing the brush removal program." Mrs. DeStefano said those items have not been corrected yet, but will be shortly.

There remains, however, one major project that must be completed, but it was emphasized that the responsibility belongs to the DEC. During the May inspection tour, engineers discovered that an unauthorized six-inch overflow drain pipe had been cut into the levee. Wege said at the time that the drain pipe was "extremely dangerous to the village," because it could burst during a flood, washing away part of the levee and causing "inundation of the village."

In his latest report, Wege noted, "The six inch sewer pipe cut into the levee... has not been plugged. This is a Department responsibility and a legal ruling on this problem is still pending. This pipe through the levee represents a serious threat to the levee system."

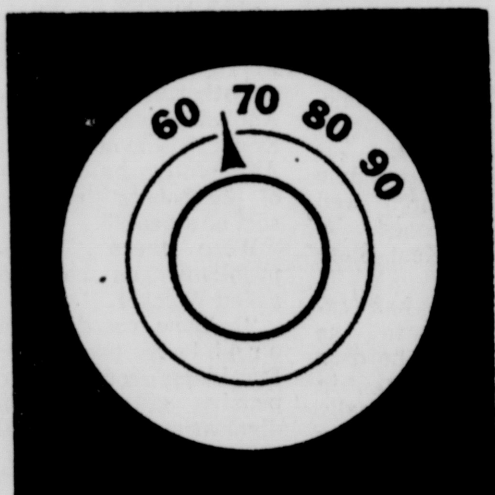

With the exception of a few other minor problems, Wege indicated, the project has been satisfactorily maintained by the village, and appears in sound structural and operating condition. Mrs. DeStefano credited Lloyd Jones, the village's highway and sanitation supervisor, with performing much of the necessary work.

Wege's report concluded: "We appreciate the Village's efforts in exercising its responsibilities in maintaining this project. This Department will continue to provide back-up services for those items beyond the village's resources. This joint effort will not only develop an attractive project, something in which the Village can take pride, but will insure its ability to function during flood emergency periods."

ENERGY CONSERVATION IS ESSENTIAL...AT WORK AS WELL AS AT HOME

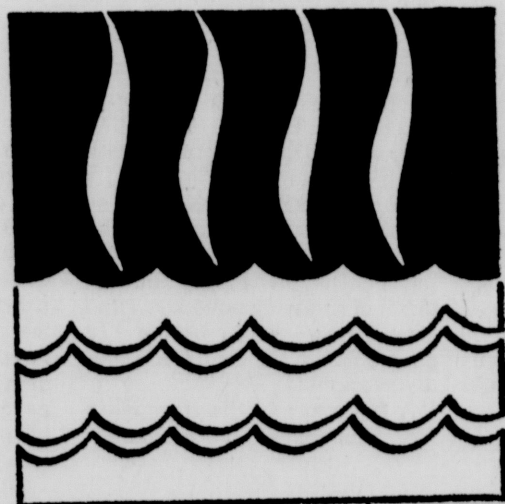

We can't overstate the importance of conserving energy. The possibility is increasing each day that there just won't be enough energy to go around this winter. If domestic energy supplies can't be sufficiently increased in the near future and imports are further curtailed or shut off, the conservation of all forms of energy becomes not only desirable but essential. Energy conservation in the home is important, but equally important is the conservation of all forms of energy at work... in offices, stores, plants, factories and other places of business.

Here are some things you can do to help conserve energy away from home:

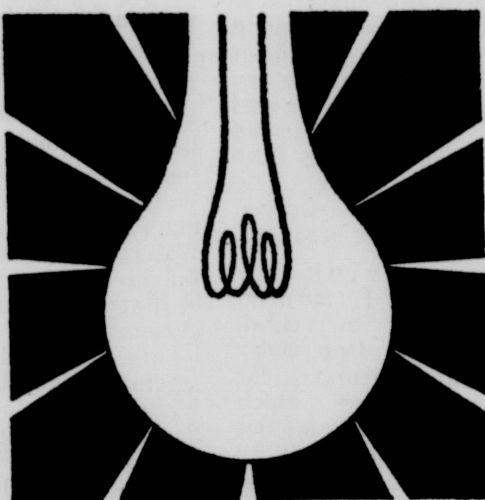

HEATING

Make sure the heating equipment in your office or building is operating efficiently. Lower the thermostat setting to 68° during business hours and to 60° when the office or building is not being used, especially on weekends and holidays. Check insulation, weatherstripping, storm windows and doors. Allow direct sunlight to enter windows on sunny days. Do not block the flow of heated air. Reduce heating levels in unoccupied areas, such as storerooms. Keep large doors closed, for example in warehouses and garages.

WATER HEATING

To conserve hot water, check your faucets. A hot water tap leaking only a drop a second, can waste thousands of gallons of heated water a year. Have your water heater thermostat set at 110° for washroom use or minimum temperatures allowable under public health codes. Wrap all exposed hot water pipes with insulating tape. Eliminate long pipe runs by installing water heaters near point of use. Check for leaks in pipes and tanks.

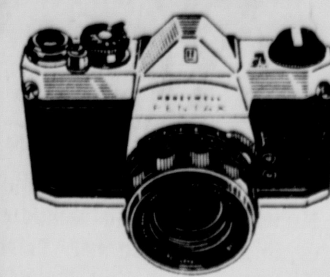

LIGHTING

Reduce illumination as much as possible without creating safety hazards or security problems. This includes interior lighting, display and window lighting, ornamental lighting, flood lighting, area lighting, and lighting used for advertising. Wherever possible, use the more efficient fluorescent lamps in place of incandescent lamps. Clean all lamps, lighting fixtures, reflectors, and shades to ensure maximum lighting efficiency. After normal business hours, turn off all non-essential lights, especially advertising signs and lights in parking lots. Eliminate outdoor holiday lights and reduce indoor holiday lights as much as possible.

Remember, energy saved in commercial and industrial buildings is just as important as energy conserved in the home.

War Machine Faults

Debate still is going on as to whether President Nixon acted in the best interests of the United States at the outset of the latest Mideast conflict in alerting American military forces scattered throughout the world.

The answer may be academic now because no apparent harm resulted from the chief executive's order.

However, an author and professor who teaches public affairs reporting at Ohio State University has come up with a commentary on the move that not only is thought-provoking—it actually is frightening.

Prof. Stuart H. Loory says Americans are engaging in the wrong debate.

Rather than ask whether the alert was necessary, he suggests that the more critical question to be answered is what would have happened if the Soviet Union had challenged the United States military forces. His feeling is we would have been badly defeated.

It is evident that the professor has followed the situation closely and if his claims relative to the fighting potential of the various branches of our military machine are credible, then there is cause for extreme concern.

These are some of Prof. Loory's contentions:

The Air Force bombers and fighters are so sophisticated, they can be maintained only in "sanctuary" bases far from the dirt and dust and jarring conditions of a battlefield. And only a computer could control the inventory of 70,000 spare parts needed to maintain a wing of F-4 Phantom fighter-bombers.

Outside of its strategic missile submarine force, the Navy has similar problems. Its surface fleet is built around aircraft carriers which, in effect, are floating sanctuaries. It brought under attack, they would have to forego offensive operations and confine all their efforts to defense.

That is why, the professor feels, the Navy did not augment its force in the Mediterranean after the alert but instead sent a carrier force to the Indian Ocean where it did not face much danger.

The Marines and the Army also are downgraded.

Both are undermanned and undertrained.

The suggestion of Prof. Loory is that once Congress gets by the Watergate mess, it look quickly and intensely at the defense establishment.

We have no way of knowing whether his observations are factual or dramatic exaggerations. But it's a situation that certainly should be explored. If, as the writer maintains, our conventional forces are an "expensive empty eggshell of a shield," then the country is in worse shape than most of us realized. We should be getting more for our $70 billion defense budget than what Mr. Loory says we have.

Mr. Loory also might have thrown more fuel on the fire—and the figure of speech is intentional—with this point. If our oil shortage is as critical as Washington says, our military machine might have been hard put to wage an extensive war—without crippling the nation.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon allegedly discussed concealing his daughter Tricia's interest in two Key Biscayne, Fla., lots in order to reduce her income taxes. But a White House spokesman insisted that the President never even considered the dubious scheme.

The charge that he juggled his taxes by hiding Tricia's share in the property was first reported by Newsweek magazine and denied by the White House earlier this month.

We have now learned the details, which were outlined behind closed doors for the former aide who helped the President with his tax deductions.

Roy "Pete" Kinsey, who worked under former White House counsel John Dean, told the Senate Watergate Committee that the Tricia Nixon angle was raised by John Ehrlichman, the former aide who watched over the Nixon family affairs.

CAPITAL GAINS
"Early in December 1972," reported Kinsey, "the decision was made that the President would sell two vacant lots in Key Biscayne." This was the last year that the President could take advantage of a $574,000 tax deduction for donating his vice presidential papers to the government.

"They wanted to use the available deduction to effect the capital gains on the Key Biscayne property," suggested Kinsey. "There was a memo from Ehrlichman to Dean, saying that the President wanted to know the tax consequences if he were to assume the full gain."

"This was because Tricia had apparently contributed $20,000 to the purchase of the property and the President had put in $17,000. The property was originally bought in 1969, but Tricia was not an owner of record—although we had a hard time determining just what had happened with the purchase of that property."

"There were two parcels of land. They were sold to (a man in) Yonkers, N. Y., who was apparently a straw man for Robert Applanalp." The wealthy Applanalp has been deeply involved in the President's real estate transactions.

TWO CONTRACTS
Kinsey reported that he never could get the Key Biscayne deal straight because "there were two contracts of sale, one indicating a sale for $134,000, the other a sale for $150,000."

He relied for his information upon the President's tax lawyer, Frank DeMarco. "My first response to the President's request for advice," said Kinsey, "was in generalities, so another memo came back asking for an answer in dollars and cents."

"DeMarco and I talked about this transaction at length. He was in about the same position as I was—getting figures from other people and not knowing the full story."

"DeMarco said Tricia's not an owner of record so the President'll take the gain and I'll find a way to get her share back to her. He didn't say how he was going to do this."

CAN'T RECALL IT

We read Kinsey's statement to DeMarco, who claimed to have no recollection of the conversation. He refused to comment on the President's taxes, except to repeat the White House denial that Tricia's holdings were concerned. Our own White House sources say Tricia paid the taxes on her share of the profits.

Under questioning by Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., Kinsey said he had discussed the Key Biscayne property with the General Service Administration's chief counsel, William Casselman.

"We had some conversations about the Key Biscayne compound," recalled Kinsey. "Bill was worried that it would come out—that it would leak—how Applanalp was involved in the Key Biscayne compound. Apparently, he obtained one of the houses there in some sort of a deal."

Where there "any other problems you can recall?" asked Weicker.

"I know we discussed the problem presented when Presidents receive very expensive gifts from foreign dignitaries," replied Kinsey. "What happens when they accept them on behalf of the United States and then use them for personal use? We eventually decided there was nothing that could be done about it."

TALK WITH LIDDY

Kinsey also told the committee about a conversation with Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy. The question had come up of campaign contributions in the form of stock certificates.

"We heard they were putting out a guide paper saying no capital gains need be declared on donated stock," said Kinsey. "IRS was not clear, so I called Liddy and put a negative rhetorical question to him, sort of, 'you're not really saying that, are you?'"

"He replied: 'Oh, yeah! We just send the certificates to a guy in the Midwest. He sells them and sends me the cash, and I put it in the safe.'"

"I said, they may be hot (stolen)."

"Liddy said: 'Oh, yeah. I assume some of them were.'"

"At this point, I said to myself, 'this guy's nuts' and hung up."

Confusion Over Tricia's Holdings

Inside Report

Jaworski Eased Doubts

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When special prosecutor Leon Jaworski filed a brief arguing that not even the President has the right to break the law in the name of national security, the last lingering doubts about him by the ardent young lawyers he inherited from the deposed Archibald Cox were removed.

Since arriving in Washington Nov. 5, Jaworski had approved in detail everything being done under Cox, reiterating demands for presidential papers which triggered Cox's dismissal. But there remained the possibility that Jaworski, a Houston corporation lawyer not known for challenging the establishment, would swallow the White House argument that some covert operations of the Plumbers unit should remain shrouded for reasons of national security. His brief filed in federal court erased that possibility.

This means the prosecution is continuing its potentially explosive investigation of the Plumbers under Jaworski precisely as it did under Cox, demanding documents that are supposed to reveal covert operations—the possible next shock in the Watergate affair. In the opinion of high Justice Department officials, Cox's insistence on probing the Plumbers was a major reason for President Nixon's determination to sack him.

In sum, Jaworski has been a grim disappointment to the White House. Presidential aides had hoped he would fire some Cox's lieutenants and bring in his own men, narrow the prosecution down to the Watergate burglary itself and quickly vote out some new Watergate indictments. So far he has made no change of importance in Cox's operations.

Since even the most intractable hardest-liners at the White House do not want a dangerous confrontation with Jaworski, Mr. Nixon's lawyers have indicated to him that all of the material about the Plumbers denied Cox will be made available (though, at this writing, it has not yet been delivered to the prosecutors).

Jaworski's posture has been nearly as surprising to Cox's old lieutenants. On the eve of his arrival here, they believed that Mr. Nixon—though at tremendous cost to his presidency—had tamed the prosecution with his Saturday night massacre of Oct. 20. Through his attitude from the first day on the job, Jaworski indicated that the Saturday night massacre had accomplished nothing.

A footnote: White House

aides still hope that Jaworski will soften the investigation once the furor finally dies down. In the meantime, they will search for evidence to indicate that at least something was accomplished in firing Cox. For instance, if any Watergate indictments are returned within the next two weeks as the White House devoutly hopes, Nixon aides will argue that this shows Jaworski means business while Cox was just out to get the President.

As part of the effective oil squeeze being applied by the Arab world, Italy is being pressured to halt refueling of the U.S. 6th Fleet in Italian ports—a step that would further aggravate the severe shortage afflicting the U.S. military.

Italy, as a NATO partner, has resisted Arab pressure so far. But the U.S. officials fear the Italians may eventually follow the course of Singapore, which stopped refueling the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Pacific when faced with Arab threats of cutting off its own oil shipments. Even without an Italian cut-off, the military now is taking 300,000 barrels of oil a day out of the civilian economy and thereby contributing to the possible economic dislocations.

A footnote: If the draconian fuel conservation measures for the U.S. military are extended indefinitely by the Arab squeeze, high Pentagon officials fear a decline in operational preparedness of the U.S. armed forces. Particularly vulnerable: Air Force readiness if flying time for pilots is permanently reduced.

Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio, President Nixon's Attorney General-designate, has privately disowned his public statement that he might well close the reopened investigation of the Kent State killings.

In public, Saxbe has expressed opposition to the decision by Elliot Richardson as Attorney General in reopening the emotionally charged case (thereby echoing the private White House view) and asserted that as Attorney General he might stop the investigation. But in private, he recently informed Sen. John V. Tunney of California that this was an ongoing investigation which could not be halted.

That reassured liberal Democrat Tunney, who as a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee is considering confirmation of Saxbe. But the Kent State confusion increases apprehension by Republican Senators who fear that the longer his confirmation is delayed, the more likely the garrulous Saxbe will talk himself into deep trouble.

The Long Day in Dallas... Part III

(Last of 3 Articles)

Father Oscar Huber was chewing Friday's fish when he heard that Kennedy had been shot. He and a curate hopped into a car and hurried to Parkland Hospital. Men with guns tried to hold them back. Huber made it to Trauma One.

He saw green tile, frightened faces of doctors and nurses against the rear wall, and Mrs. Kennedy beside him. The floor was streaked with blood. He removed a stole from a black case, kissed it, and put it around his neck. The body was long and covered with a white sheet. The feet were visible. They were so white that Father Huber told himself: "There is no blood in this man."

He imparted the last rites, with conditional Extreme Unction, and pulled away the sheet to uncover the gray skin and the staring eyes. He anointed the dead President. "Father, do you think the sacrament had effect?" Mrs. Kennedy feared her husband's soul might have fled before the sacrament had been administered. "Oh yes. Yes indeed," Huber said. "She wrung her hands. 'Pray for Jack,' she begged."

In an hour, Father Huber had seen his first live President and his first dead one. Kennedy's men—Kenneth O'Donnell and Dave Powers—urged the Secret Service to get Lyndon Johnson aboard Air Force One at once. Mrs. Kennedy begged Malcolm Kilduff, assistant Press Secretary, to tell the press Kennedy had died at 1 p.m.—not 12:30. That would make the last rites valid in her mind.

The Secret Service raced the blood-soaked Lincoln to Love Field. "See?" Dallasites said. "There he goes. He wasn't shot." Johnson was squeezed into a car with Congressmen and hurried to the airport. Dallas, which had accorded Kennedy a more mannerly welcome than was in their hearts, was numb with shock.

A Justice of the Peace tried to hold the body, stating that it amounted to a homicide committed in Dallas, and an autopsy would have to be performed. Secret Service agents, with O'Donnell and Powers, said: "We're getting out of here." The Justice of the Peace was angry. The cart shoved the J.P. and a policeman out of the way.

In Oak Cliff, Officer J.D. Tippit drove alone in his squad car. He moved slowly across Kiest Boulevard toward Illinois. Police radio Channels One and Two were heavy with babbling, orders about searching an overpass and "get some men in that building."

Tippit was a non-panic cop. To make an extra buck, he worked the movies at night, keeping children quiet. Tippit drove out of Area 78 to 109. A radio voice said: "... an unknown white male, approximately 30, slender build, height five foot ten inches, reported armed..." Second voice: "What is he wanted for?"

Radio voice: "Signal 19 (shooting) involving the President." Tippit listened and parked his car at Eighth Street and Corinth. Then he inched the car along the curb at Zangs and Beckley. At the School Depository, Dallas police and manager Roy Truly were lining up employees. One was missing. His name was Lee Harvey Oswald. He was the only one who did not return from lunch.

Tippit was on Tenth, crossing Patton. A white male was walking ahead. Tippit rolled the right window down. The man stopped. Tippit got out of the left side of the car and leaned on the hood. Four shots caught the cop. As he fell beside the wheel of his car, he drew his gun and his face fell on it.

Lee Harvey Oswald dolted through horrified witnesses. He was headed toward Jefferson. At 1:16 p.m., police headquarters heard a citizen pick up a police radio and shout: "We had a shooting out here."

"Where's it at?" The dispatcher called J.D. Tippit: "78?" There was no answer. Dallas had two separate murders.

On Jefferson, squad cars roared by with screaming sirens as Lee Harvey Oswald looked idly in the window of a shoe store. Inside, a loud radio said that Kennedy was dead. Johnny Brewer, manager of the shoe store, thought the stranger outside looked suspicious. He watched him walk the street to the Texas Theatre where "Cry of Battle" with Van Heflin was showing. Oswald sneaked in.

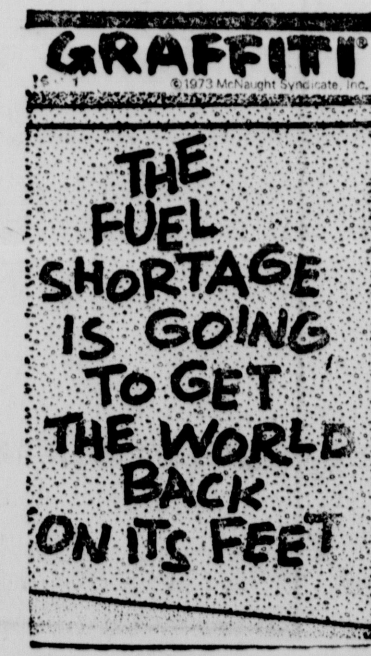

Brewer asked the cashier if the stranger had bought a ticket. Julia Postal said no. Brewer phoned the police. In 10 minutes, the Texas Theatre was surrounded, and, after a struggle, Lee Harvey Oswald, was manacled and under arrest.

The cops booked him for Tippit's murder. They didn't know it, but they had a much bigger little man...

Foster Program Is 'Grand'

KINGSTON Officials have called the Foster Grandparents Program, operating in Ulster County for the past 18 months, "most successful."

The "grannies" give tender, loving care to the children and in turn find a new meaning in their lives, officials said.

The program is expanding and needs more foster grandparents. The grandparents receive $1,670 annually which is totally tax-free and not to be included in figuring income. Foster grandparents do not have to report this income and no taxes will be withheld under an amendment passed in May, 1973, by Internal Revenue Service, so the entire $1,670 is free and clear to foster grandparents.

Transportation is provided from the foster grandparent's home to the assigned work site and return. A hot meal will be served where feasible and there are other fringe benefits, officials said. Requirements are that foster grandparents be 60 years or age or older and in good health. A free physical examination is given annually. Duties begin after the school day is over, when "granny" will be there to help by listening to the children, helping with homework, and doing the things most grandparents love to do—spoiling their grandchildren.

A close relationship exists between foster grandparents and their charges since only two children are assigned. Anyone interested in signing up is asked to call Mrs. Marian Kempf, project director.

Detour for UCCC Students

STONE RIDGE

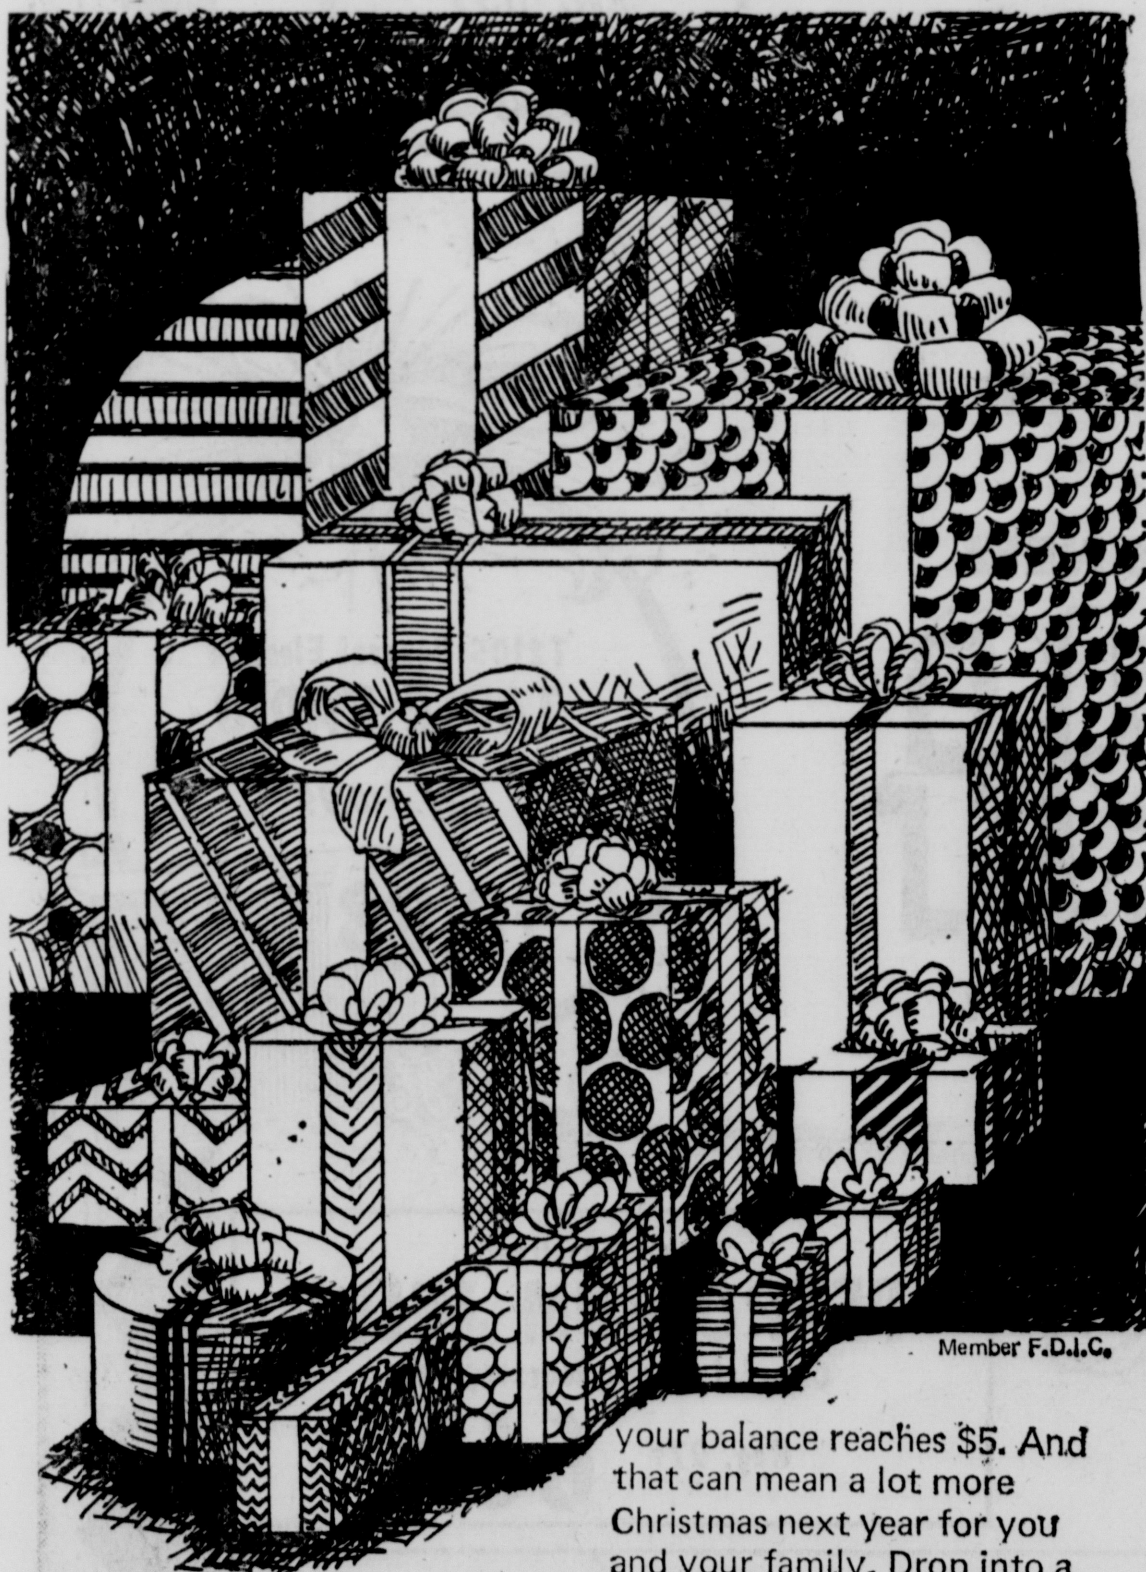

Students going to evening classes tonight at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College will have to go by way of Lucas Avenue because of road construction underway at the College's main entrance, according to Dean of Administration Robert T. Brown.

Because of the construction, being done by Ulster County Highway Department crews to raise the level of Cottekill Road, it will be impossible to reach the campus from Route 209.

Persons going to the campus tonight should take Lucas Avenue to the Four Corners and turn onto Cottekill Road there. Traffic will go westward on Cottekill Road to the back entrance of the campus.

It is hoped the construction will be completed by Tuesday night, but this inconvenience may continue for several more days. College officials suggest people should continue to use Lucas Avenue until the construction is completed.

If Christmas comes but once a year, why pay for it every week?

Good question? Well, look at it this way. If you charge Christmas gifts as a lot of people do, and spread out the payments, you're paying interest on those payments. A lot of interest, up to 18% per year. Now if you were to put away a few dollars every week in an Inter-County Christmas Savings Plan instead, we pay you interest. A full 5 1/4% interest once your balance reaches $5. And that can mean a lot more Christmas next year for you and your family. Drop into a convenient Inter-County office today and open your Christmas Savings Plan. We'll give you a handsome cut glass bowl or platter. It's just our way of saying "Season's Greetings" from Inter-County.

Ben-Gurion Still Serious

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Doctors attending former Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, partially paralyzed by a stroke Nov. 18, said he remained in serious condition today.

Ben-Gurion, who helped found the Jewish state and was its first prime minister, was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage that left his right side paralyzed.

29 State Road Deaths Over Long Holiday

By United Press International
Law enforcement officials had expressed hope that the lowering of the speed limit on New York State highways to 50 miles per hour to save gasoline would also save lives.

It apparently didn't work out that way during the Thanksgiving weekend this year however.

A UPI count showed at least 29 persons died on the state's highways during the 102-hour period.

In addition, 18 persons, including four hunters, died in other accidents during the period, stretching from 6 p. m. Wednesday until midnight Sunday.

Last year, 25 persons were killed in New York State traffic accidents during the Thanksgiving holiday.

The lowest toll for the holiday was 23, set in 1960.

The costliest holiday periods came in 1965 and 1968, when 43 persons died on the state's roads.

Motorists battled early morning fog, occasional rain and a cutback in hours by many service stations during the holiday.

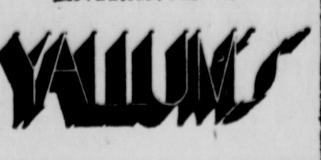

Despite the closing of many gas stations, however, state police and the American Automobile Association (AAA) reported no unusual increase in calls from stranded motorists. Troopers patrolling the 559-mile Thruway said most motorists, even those from out of state, obeyed the recently imposed 50 mph limit, imposed two weeks ago to conserve gas.

Con Ed Plans To Burn Coal In Two Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — Consolidated Edison says it is proceeding to adapt two power plants for burning coal in lieu of scarce oil, despite a city ruling that bars coal-burning on anti-pollution grounds.

A Con Edison official said Sunday he was hopeful the utility could win an appeal of the city ruling and gain permission to buy and burn coal from two state agencies.

The pollution issue involves the city's Environmental Protection Administration, the State Public Service Commission and the State Environmental Conservation Department.

"If we were able to burn coal at two plants... it would go a long way to make up for the loss of residual fuel oil," said Bertram Schwartz, Con Ed vice president for system planning and fuel supply.

He said that unless the coal ban were eased, the utility within a month might have to resort to steps such as rotating blackouts, curtailment of subway services and shortened work weeks.

Schwartz said Con Ed was going ahead with steps to convert its Ravenswood 3 plant in Long Island City and Arthur Kill 30 plant on Staten Island to coal.

Alluding to the cost of the conversion program, Schwartz noted: "More than a million dollars will go down the drain if we don't get authorization to burn coal."

The city environmental agency last week decided to permit Con Ed to burn oil with higher sulphur content but refused to lift its ban against coal-burning.

Schwartz said Con Ed needed immediate permission to buy coal and store it. "In a few weeks coal may not be readily available," he said. "An awful lot of other utilities will be on the market. There may be a railroad car shortage."

He was interviewed on the WGBS-TV "Newsmakers" program and by reporters later.

Coroner Rules 'Accidental' in Saugerties Death

SAUGERTIES
Ulster County Coroner Richard C. Buono has ruled that Paul Faison, 54, of Saugerties died as the result of pulmonary aspiration either just before or after he fell from a roof at the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp. plant on Old King's Highway in Mt. Marion Friday.

The death was ruled accidental, Coroner Buono said it could not be determined exactly whether the pulmonary aspiration led to his fall from the roof, or was a result of the fall.

Dutchess Board Summary

By TIM SCHUSTER

PINE PLAINS

By the end of 1973 the Dutchess County Board of Representatives will have adopted more than 700 resolutions, conducted more than 40 regular and special meetings, and nearly 150 committee meetings for the year.

County Representative Clyde Chase, (R-Dist. XXIX), who lives in Pine Plains and represents portions of Rhinebeck and the Town of Milan, recently issued a summary of what he considers to have been important actions taken by the board this year.

Topping that list was the January consolidation of City of Poughkeepsie Social Services Department with the county, thereby increasing the county's Social Services budget from $8 million in 1972 to $17 million in 1973. The merger was mandated by a 1971 act of the state legislature.

The board created a Solid Waste Management Department to coordinate and investigate refuse disposal and to carry out the Truman Report recommending regionalization. Pyrolysis, or high temperature burning, is being investigated for the heavily populated southwestern portion of the county.

The board has created an office for the Aging with fulltime director to coordinate all private and public organizations that deal with activities and problems of aging.

The Environmental Management Council was authorized by the board to hire a director, to begin a countywide environmental inventory and approach each town with thoughts of coordinating programs. And he will be responsible to the Board of Representatives for information on matters of area ecology as an advisor.

The Red Hook Agricultural District was among several to receive approval from the State Department of Environmental Conservation and the county board. Others were in the Towns of LaGrange, Northeast, and Pine Plains, protecting the conservation of open lands in agriculture for awhile.

Dutchess County Airport now has a fixed base operator as the result of a contract adopted by the board allowing Banner Flight East, Ltd. to operate there.

In May of this year the board created a Governmental Services Committee consisting of citizens from the county who will study ways of making the operations of town and county governments more efficient, with the hope that duplicated services will be consolidated.

A $5.2 million bond issue was adopted for the construction and repair of county roads, and Chase said that some of these funds will be used in towns he represents.

A resolution of Chase's adopted by the board had the state re-evaluate agriculture land values in the county. The State Board of Equalization and Assessment lowered the county's ceiling of agricultural land values from $600 per acre to $350.

The board requested the State Department of Environmental Conservation to establish environmental monitoring stations in the county for a continuous check of air and noise pollution, partly to check any impact from developing Stewart Jetport.

The County Department of Planning will have expanded through newly established charges for technical planning services, hopefully at a lower cost than through private planning consultants.

The board has requested towns and villages throughout the county to participate in standardizing names of county roads for simplification on appraisals and legal documents, as well as making it easier to follow directions.

And Chase called attention to a resolution directing the Commissioner of Public Works Edgar Petrovits to add Milan Hill Road to his priority list for reconstruction. The board has provided $135,000 in the 1973 bond issue for this purpose, and the Milan road will be completed in the summer of 1974.

Ulster Academy Seeks to Raise $125,000

DR. MILTON GROVER Night Reception, with cocktail hour and dinner, Dec. 1, at the Academy, Route 32, north of the Rhinecliff Bridge. The Academy's 55 founders will be honored.

Several other events have been tentatively scheduled according to Dr. Grover, including a New Year's Party, invitational dinners for parents and guests and student activities.

"We have our new building now and some 35 acres for expansion of facilities," Robert Yallum, president of the Academy School Board, told the committee at a recent meeting. "We are ready to prepare for the next generation. We want to continue to grow and offer a fine alternate education to those who want it. It is our belief that the Academy will be able to provide for its future needs as well as the present."

"Ulster Academy recently gained nationwide exposure and recognition on the CBS television network," Yallum said. "James Hasbrouck, a sophomore, will continue to represent us as a semi-regular on the Pat Collins Morning Talk Show, appearing about once a month."

"It was quite an honor to be chosen for the show. There are thousands of Country Day Schools in the East. Some 20 million people are watching us," Yallum explained.

"We want our own communities to become more interested in us as an asset to the area. We want also to show the nation what educational advantages a private school can accomplish. We would like our local communities to be proud to say for the next generation that 'Ulster Academy is one of the finest schools in the East,'" Yallum told the group.

Community interest, the committee felt, could be shown by contributions to the Academy V. J. Andretta Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Friedman; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gruber; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoornbeck; Mr. and Mrs. Hutton; Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Jackaway; Dr. and Mrs. Kurken J. Kirk; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd LeFever; Mrs. How-

Chamber Music at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ Germany next month but will not be available in this country. The inspiration for the work was paintings of medieval Riga. Dr. Pone's home city, by the young Soviet artist Janis Anmanis. It is scored for two violins, two clarinets and prepared piano; a variety of percussion instruments, including marimba, Javanese gongs, bells and tam-tam; and, even more unusual in a chamber orchestra, 18 bottles and four air vibrators.

Other works on the Chamber Music Society's program are the song cycle On Wenlock Edge by Ralph Vaughan Williams, based on poems by A. E. Housman, for tenor, string quartet and piano; Haydn's Piano Trio No. 2 in F-sharp Minor; and Mozart's String Quartet in A Major, K. 464.

Faculty members of the New Paltz Department of Music participating in the concert will be pianists Victor Landau and Karen Pone, tenor Lee Pritchard, clarinetist Peter Alexander, violinist Linda Cumiskey and violist Lance Premezzi. They will be assisted by guest performers Richard Barbour, percussion; Carole Premezzi, violin; and Lois Posta, cello.

The performance will take place in Rebecca McKenna Theatre on the college campus and will begin at 8:30 p.m. There will be no admission charge, and the general public is welcome as well as the college community. The event is made possible by grants from the Classical Music Committee of the college's Student Government Association and the New York State Council on the Arts.

Kingston Hadassah Will Give Benefit Show Here

MODELING for the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah's fashion show on December 3 will be (L-R) Jean Semilof and Helen Serinsky. Given for the benefit of Youth Aliyah, other models will include the Mmes. Lenora Markoe, Ann Motzkin, Judith H. Robins, Millicent Friedman and Anne Breuer. Fashions will be shown through the courtesy of Danish Design Center of Poughkeepsie.

Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will present a fashion show and card party for the benefit of Youth Aliyah next month. This event, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur (Marilyn) Motzkin, will be held Monday, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. in Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

The fashion show, presented by the Danish Design Center of Poughkeepsie, will feature the famous MARIMEKKO women's fashions imported from Finland. All of the fashions are hand screened, vivid prints created along casual styles. The collection includes something for everyone.

Youth Aliyah, organized in Berlin during 1934 by Recha Freier and founder of Hadassah Henrietta Szold, starting with a group of 43 German youngsters, has resettled and rehabilitated in Israel nearly 145,000 children wrested from over 80 countries.

Youth — especially recently arrived Russian youth, underprivileged teenaged from the cities of Israel, all 12,500 current Youth Aliyah wards — could face serious dislocation of their lives if this work of rescue and rehabilitation should stop.

In the front ranks of Israel's leaders today — in the army, in government, on all levels where education, character and training literally can make the difference between good and inferior leadership — there are Youth Aliyah graduates. Youth Aliyah has produced men and women of stature and its leaders emphasize the need for continuing this work.

All contributors to Youth Aliyah are invited to attend the fashion show and card party. For those who do not play cards, there will be a Gossiper's Corner.

Contributions may be made at the door or sent to Mrs. Harry Feldman of Kingston. Table reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Arthur Motzkin of Kingston.

Homemakers Discuss Yule Decorating Ideas

Ideas for Christmas decorating with energy conservation as a prime factor formed the basis of a meeting for Sawyer Homemakers of Saugerties. Gathering at the home of Mrs. Robert Martin recently, the membership felt the challenge of the crisis was a challenge to families to supply individual warmth and expression to the season. Members agreed to make this Christmas one that featured "inner light," rather than the usual extensive use of electric lights. The Homemakers also discussed ways in which to conserve fuel.

Mrs. Robert Varrell conducted the November workshop which concentrated on making decorative candle sconces.

At the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Roy Helmsmoortel, vice chairman, a report on the successful Ulster County Extension Service dinner and dance held at the Granit Hotel recently was given by Mrs. Richard Cyr. In keeping with the purpose of the Sunshine Committee, Mrs. George Leombruno, chairman, announced that flowers were forwarded to a hospitalized member of the Mrs. Daniel Murphy family, and that an ornament will be placed on the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens Memory Tree for the late Mrs. William Ashmore.

Hosting the social hour were Mrs. Wilson Edmunds and Mrs. Dennis McCann.

The Sawyer's homemakers will get together for a Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 13 at 7:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Leombruno. Secret pal gifts will be exchanged as well as a general gift exchange.

Philharmonic Concert To Have Guest Soloist

NISANNE GROFF

For the last concert in the Fall series, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic will be conducted by world renowned British conductor, Neville Marriner, and will feature 18 year old violinist, Nisanne Graff, on Dec. 10 in Kingston Community Theatre. The performance will take place at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Graff, first prize winner of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic's 1973 Young Artist's competition, will perform St. Saens' "Third Violin Concerto in B minor." Included in the program also will be Rossini's "Semiramide Overture" and Schubert's "Ninth Symphony."

After graduating with highest honors from the preparatory department of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, Miss Graff has been studying for the past two years at the Juilliard School of Music with Ivan Galamian. She also attended the summer music schools at Interlochen and Meadowmount and participated in the Marlboro Music Festival in 1972.

Already recognized as a promising young concert artist, Miss Graff has performed with the Rochester and Erie Philharmonics and played in two concerts at Carnegie Hall. She and her husband, Malcolm Lowe, have recently concluded a concert tour in Canada.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Many youngsters want their own horse. Is your youngster one of them? asks Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

Before buying that first horse, consider that the smallest single expense connected with it will probably be the price of the horse itself. For a new horse owner, signing away $500 at one swat for a nicely trained but unremarkable horse does not seem like a very small investment at all, especially when he realizes it is only the beginning.

Feed can run $1 a day, which does not sound too bad, but that assumes the owner has a barn and pasture and plans to do all horse-related work himself. Boarding a horse with someone else will cost considerably more than $30 a month. The stable owner will not only expect to be paid for feed but also stall rent, a service charge for feeding and cleaning the horse, and any other services you expect. This monthly bill can run from $50 to $200 depending on what the owner expects in the way of horse care and facilities.

Farrier services (blacksmithing) are rarely included in the monthly board bill. According to one recent survey for the State of New York, $108 a year is not too much to pay for a good farrier if the horse is to be shod. Some horsemen prefer their horses to go barefoot but before deciding on this course, make sure the horse's hooves are strong enough for this. Some horses can get by with just an every-six-weeks trim, but others have such weak hoof walls that they really need shoes to keep body and sole together.

Just as a child, cat, or dog needs a certain number of shots, so does a horse. The average yearly veterinarian bill, including shots and worming (twice a year), is about $75 per horse. Quality tack is a sizeable investment that should be chosen for its durability and resale value. Each horse must have a halter, lead rope, bridle, saddle and saddle pad. This can amount to over $300 and some people spend that much on equipment annually. To economize, buy good used tack . . . if you know leather and know what you want.

The above expenses are what the horse owner will have to meet if he plans to keep his horse for riding only. If he plans to show his horse, attend races, participate in clinics or competitive trail rides, or breed other horses . . . the involvement, the improvement and the enjoyment of horse owning will increase. So will the expenses.

The Legend of the Christmas Rose third in a series of Christmas medallions by Towle. Shepherd's upon receiving the angels message journeyed to the manger in Bethlehem bearing gifts for the Christ Child. According to legend a little shepherd girl followed hesitantly and with sadness of heart because she had no gift to offer the Babe. Suddenly, in her path there appeared an angel who scattered beautiful white roses before her. Joyfully she gathered some blossoms in her arms and laid them around the crib in the manger as her gift to the Christ Child. These flowers had never been seen before and came to be known as the Christmas Rose which ever after bloomed abundantly during the Christmas season.

Friend Thinks Widow's Mourning Too Much!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a good friend (I'll call her Nellie) whose husband died on Christmas Day four years ago. They had been married for more than 60 years, and Nellie is still mourning for him. She keeps crying: "Harry, why did you leave me?"

Abby, I have been a widow for 22 years, and I loved my husband as much as Nellie loved Harry, but I realized feeling sorry for myself and making everybody else miserable by crying all the time wasn't going to help, so I just put on a happy face and accepted it.

Nellie tells me that one of her friends wrote: "Cry as much as you feel like it, until you are all cried out."

I don't agree with that. I think if she would quit crying, and thank God for the 60 good years she had with Harry, she would be better off.

What do you say?
GRANDMA IN FLORIDA
DEAR GRANDMA: I say, how one handles his grief is a very personal matter. (Some are never "cried out.") Putting on an "act" of courage often builds strength. And it certainly is an act of charity to one's friends.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your opinion of wife-swapping. Thank you for saying: "To me, the sexual expression of love is a beautiful private thing between two people, and using sex to achieve the ultimate in a thrill which could conceivably include the whole neighborhood is for animals. Now, may I relate my own experience in that regard? After my husband and I had been happily married for 10 years, he suggested wife swapping. The idea was disgusting to me, but he kept insisting it would improve our relationship, and even tho I thought our relationship was fine, because I loved him and wanted to please him, I agreed to try it. It was the most foolish decision I ever made.

The result: Two divorces, and five beautiful children who now miss their daddies. Contrary to what the swingers say, there can be no sex without some emotional involvement. Because I loved my husband,

TOO LATE

DEAR TOO LATE: My mail concerning wife-swapping is running 20 to 1 against it.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem concerns our son (age 30) who gave a 25-year-old girl an engagement ring last winter in anticipation of a June wedding.

His fiancée's sister (age 20) has just announced her engagement to a young man, 21, and therein lies the problem. The parents of these sisters have talked the girls into having a double wedding to save expenses.

My son doesn't want to upset his fiancée, or get on the wrong side of her parents, but he says the idea of a double wedding turns him off. Frankly, it doesn't appeal to us either. The girl he is marrying has a large family, and the other bridegroom, we are told also has a lot of relatives. They are talking about 700 wedding guests and a bridal party of 30!

Abby, we feel that a three-family wedding of this size will be more like a three-ring circus.

Please tell us how our son should handle this without alienating his bride or her family. No names or city, please.

MOM AND POP

DEAR MOM AND POP: Your son should make it plain to his bride that he doesn't want to share his wedding day with another couple. The fact that YOU are writing about your son's problem may say something about his reluctance to speak his piece. You can't run interference for him all his life. It's his problem. Let him handle it.

NEW DIMENSIONS IN MIME by Jon Harvey of New Paltz will be given in two performances for the student body at George Washington School on Wednesday, Nov. 28. Sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Organization, the programs have been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Although he did not begin formal training as a mime until 1963 at the New School in New York City, Harvey had much experience in the art of non-verbal communication from an early age. Drawn into an unusual childhood communication with a deaf-mute aunt, he developed a meaningful communication that gave him an indelible sense of the richness of communication without words. Later, as a teen-ager, Jon Harvey's fascination with animation and cartoons further developed his sense of economical, visual signs as valid communication over words. Helpful Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
SOME DAYS YOU HAVE TO WEIGH EVERY WORD.

Dear Heloise:

My bathroom scale was getting rather dingy looking and the linoleum-like covering kept curling up around the edges.

The scale was still accurate and was too good to just throw away. But what to do about it?

Walking through a department store one day, I spied, on sale, some 12-inch square indoor-outdoor stick-on floor tile. Would one be big enough to cover that scale?

My bathroom fixtures are pink so, taking a chance as I would not be out much if it didn't fit, I bought a red tile. Glory be — by trimming away for the curved edges of the scale and cutting out for the handle, I found it would work!

I peeled off that old cover. With the backing still on the tile, it was easy to cut out and fit the tile exactly to the shape of the scale. With that done it was simple to just pull that backing off and press the tile in place.

Now after cleaning up the chrome trim, I have a smart "almost new" bathroom scale for less than 50 cents!

Irene Walker

Dear Heloise:

The children's old lunch boxes (the rectangular one, that they don't use any more) make an excellent storage place for your canceled checks.

Mrs. Jelley

Dear Heloise:

For anyone who has arthritis in her hands, may I suggest wearing an apron that has no ties?

Make the apron as usual, only finish off the top with a casing large enough to hold one of those round plastic "clips" (I used a knitting hoop), that fits around the waist.

This eliminates tedious and often unfruitful attempts to tie apron strings.

Those large-sized front pockets are also a great help.

Mrs. Doug Johnson
Arthritis is so painful for some, that anything that can be done to help bring them a little help and relief is well worth the effort!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Being as I am short on space in which to store all my linens, I have devised a system of my own.

In the room that has twin beds, I store the sheets for those beds on the closet shelf in that room. Regular-sized sheets are on the shelf in the room with a double bed, etc.

This helps keep the sheets straight and leaves more space in which to store all towels and wash cloths and any other necessary linens!

Alma Rabatin

Dear Heloise:

I was at my girl friend's the other day, helping her prepare dinner.

The recipe she was using called for chopped onions. All she had were onion slices that were frozen. But did they ever chop up nice with a food chopper!

From now on I'm going to slice and freeze my onions before chopping.

If you can save $50 a month,

Flex-IT

In a savings plan that is uniquely yours.
And immediately earn 6.75% guaranteed annual interest with a 7.08% effective annual yield.

Flex-IT stands for Flexible Installment Term, the Heritage plan that lets you earn the high yield of a term account without making a large lump-sum deposit.

And Flex-IT is so flexible, it is tailored to you alone. And available only at Heritage Savings Bank.

Here's how it works:

1. You decide how much you want to save regularly, as long as it averages at least $50 a month or $12.50 a week.
2. You set your own savings goal (minimum $1000) and decide how long it will take you to reach that goal.
3. In saving toward your goal, you may make larger deposits, make deposits more frequently, use a large deposit as a credit toward another payment, whatever — as long as, on the average, you follow your chosen deposit schedule.
4. When you reach your savings goal, your regular deposits stop and your money and its earned interest are converted to a permanent term account for a length of time that you choose.

And in the permanent term account, your money still earns a guaranteed 6.75% interest annually with a 7.08% effective annual yield.

5. The installment deposit period and the length of the permanent term account are up to you, as long as they do not exceed 7 years combined and as long as the permanent term account is for at least 2½ years.

For example: You can make installment deposits for 3½ years and have a permanent term account of 3½ years (Total: 7 years). Or, installment deposits for 1½ years and a 2½ year term account (Total: 4 years). Or, any other combination that suits you personally.

6. Flex-IT has many other options, too, which make this flexible, high-yield savings plan uniquely yours.

Civic Center Survey Set

Dutchess Community College students will soon conduct a county-wide survey on behalf of the Mid-Hudson Civic Center.

Some 30 retailing students will be learning to complete questionnaires during the first week of December. Their findings will eventually be incorporated into marketing studies for use by agencies involved in the development of the $3 million Civic Center in Poughkeepsie.

Supervised by DCC faculty members George Freedman and Gilbert Seligman, the students will determine public awareness of Civic Center planning, the appeal of athletic and entertainment events, and the potential benefits of the new center.

The center will house a multi-purpose meeting facility and an ice skating rink as major attractions.

DCC students prepared a similar questionnaire three years ago under Freedman for the Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce, ascertaining shopping trends of adults and teenagers in the Rhinebeck-Red Hook area toward local and Kingston-Poughkeepsie businesses.

It's No Mistake—Broncos Are On Top

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

That is not a mistake in the National Football League standings. The Denver Broncos really are in first place.

The Broncos, accustomed to less glamorous surroundings, climbed to the top of the American Football Conference West Division Sunday by beating Kansas City 14-10. Denver turned the trick on a pair of touchdown passes 81 seconds apart from Charley Johnson to Haven Moses.

That moved the Broncos one-half game ahead of both Kansas City and Oakland, who are tied for second place. The Raiders moved into that deadlock with a 31-3 romp over San Diego.

Elsewhere, Cleveland closed to within one-half game of Pittsburgh at the top of the AFC Central Division, beating the Steelers 21-16. In the same race, Cincinnati moved only one game behind, defeating St. Louis 42-24.

In other games, Los Angeles defeated New Orleans 24-13, staying one game ahead of the Atlanta Falcons in the NFC West. The Falcons whipped the New York Jets 28-20. Minnesota belted Chicago 31-13. Buffalo downed Baltimore 24-17. New England shut out Houston 32-0, and Philadelphia topped the New York Giants 20-16.

In last Thursday's holiday games, Washington shut out Detroit 20-0 and Miami beat Dallas 14-7.

Green Bay's nationally televised game at San Francisco tonight completes the NFL's 11th week of action.

Broncos 14, Chiefs 10
Even losing Coach Hank Stram couldn't feel too badly about losing to the resurgent Broncos, who have become winners for the first time in the franchise's history.

"I almost glad to see this franchise come along," said Stram, after his Chiefs bowed to the Broncos 14-10. "They've worked so hard and their fans have been so loyal over all these losing seasons."

Stram's Chiefs blanked the Broncos for most of the game. But Johnson's scoring pitches of 18 and 40 yards to Moses in the final two minutes of the first half proved decisive.

Browns 21, Steelers 16
Greg Pruitt's 19-yard TD run with 61 seconds left, turned around Cleveland's game against Pittsburgh and gave the Browns their 21-16 decision. Moments earlier, he had caught a 42-yard pass from Mike Phipps to set up the winning score.

Vikings 31, Bears 13
Minnesota's NFC Central Division champions mauled Chicago 31-13 in a game they dedicated to longtime Viking defensive back Karl Kasulke, who was paralyzed in a preseason motorcycle accident. Kasulke, confined to a wheelchair, made his first public appearance since the accident, shaking hands with the players during halftime ceremonies.

Bengals 42, Cardinals 24
Ken Anderson pitched three touchdown passes, leading Cincinnati to its 42-24 victory over St. Louis. It was the Bengals' best scoring show of the season. Even though it came against the league's poorest defense, Anderson was glad to see it. "We finally got our offense untracked," the quarterback said.

Raiders 31, Chargers 3
George Atkinson returned an early recovered fumble 59 yards for a touchdown and Ken Stabler passed for two more Oakland scores in the Raiders' 31-3 romp over San Diego.

Rams 24, Saints 13
Los Angeles maintained its one-game lead in the NFC West by coming from behind to overtake New Orleans. John Hadl threw two TD passes for the Rams, the second one putting LA in front to stay late in the third period.

Bills 24, Colts 17
Buffalo came from behind with a pair of touchdowns 23 seconds apart in the final 71 seconds of the game to defeat Baltimore 24-17. Dwight Harrison returned an interception 31 yards for the deciding score. O.J. Simpson, zeroing in on Jim Brown's all-time single season rushing record of 1,863 yards, gained 124 in 15 carries. That pushed his season total to 1,448 yards, 416 short of Brown with three games to play.

Patriots 32, Oilers 0
Jim Plunkett passed for a pair of touchdowns and New England wiped out Houston 32-0. Plunkett moved the Patriots to a 24-0 halftime lead and they coasted after that. He gained 175 yards passing before leaving the game. Houston, meanwhile, managed only 184 total yards.

SLIP IN THE MUD — Joe Namath, starting his first game for the Jets since Sept. 23, slips in the rain and the mud Sunday against Atlanta Falcons at Shea Stadium. Namath threw two TD passes but Jets lost, 28-20. (UPI)

Falcons Got the Win They Needed

NEW YORK (AP) — "We knew we needed to win, what with Dallas having lost," Atlanta quarterback Bob Lee said. "So we won. We didn't completely solidify our position, but this sure helped."

Lee, hindered by steady and sometimes torrential rains, kept his passing to a minimum Sunday against New York.

But when he did put the ball in the air, he got the maximum out of it, aided by the Jets' porous secondary.

He clicked on touchdown plays covering 38 yards to Tom Geradine and 47 yards to Louis Neal and handed off twice to Eddie Ray for scoring dives of one and two yards that thoroughly dampened Joe Namath's return as the Jets' starting quarterback and carried the Falcons to a 28-20 victory.

It was their seventh straight triumph, giving them an 8-3 record, the best ever in their eight-season history, and kept them within one game of first-place Los Angeles in the National Conference West.

But, more important, it put them in the best position to nail down the conference's wild-card playoff berth, if not the divisional title. At 8-3, the Falcons are even with first-place

Washington in the NFC East, one and one game up on Dallas, and one game up on Miami on Thanksgiving Day.

"It's just a very gratifying season," Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin said. "This is the result of five years of hard work. We knew what our problem was all along. We were a good team without a good quarterback." He nodded toward Lee. "This year we have one."

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets didn't have one, really. At least, he didn't have the Namath who used to electrify the fans every time he faded back to pass.

"Joe's arm isn't back to where it could be," he said. "He put everything into it and did a hell of a job under the circumstances. He's hurting every time he throws the ball. He played hurt."

Namath started for the first time since sustaining a shoulder separation Sept. 23 in Baltimore. "I don't know if I'm recovering as fast as I should or not," he said.

"One of the problems I had was that the ground was slippery. I couldn't set up. My legs would slide. So I had to throw a lot more with the arm ... the arm just isn't as strong as it was. I'd throw the ball on a line and it would die. I didn't throw worth a damn."

He did throw two touchdowns, a two-yarder to Richard Caster and a 38-yarder to Eddie Bell. But he also threw three interceptions. The Jets' only other points came on field goals of 14 and 24 yards by Bobby Howfield.

"He's a hell of a player," Van Brocklin said of Namath. "He really stirs up a team. I was delighted to go against the best and extra delighted to get those interceptions."

The first one came on Namath's first pass and paved the way to the scoring catch by Geradine, who hauled the ball was trying to get into field goal in one yard behind Eddie Thomas and ran away from the Jets' cornerback. Again blew his defensive assignment.

"It was an audible," Thomas said of the play. "I had to go over to the other side of the field and wasn't really ready to play when the pass was thrown."

The Jets came back to take a 10-7 lead. But Emerson Boozer, their leading rusher with 78 yards, fumbled at his own goal line early in the second period. Atlanta then went ahead to stay on Ray's one-yard dive.

The back-breaker came within less than one minute to play in the half. Atlanta led 14-13 anding is a better way."

Sullivan Ran With the Ball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Giants 20-16 in a National Football League game. Two years ago Tom Sullivan ran away from football. Sunday he ran with the football and it enabled the Philadelphia Eagles to defeat the New York Giants into submission with a crunching running game. Quarterback Roman Gabriel directed an offense that netted 253 yards on the ground.

The Eagles went into the game, according to Coach Mike McCormack, with the idea of establishing a running game to take the pressure off Gabriel, who was playing with a sore passing arm elbow.

Gabriel, who suffered the elbow injury the previous week against Dallas, threw only when he had to, and completed 10 of 15 passes for 156 yards and one touchdown. Mostly the big quarterback handed off to his running backs.

"Their offense just stuck the ball down our defense's throat," said Giants' Coach Alex Webster. "Our defense was lousy." Webster said of the NFL's fifth best defensive unit.

Sullivan was a 15th draft choice in 1972 after a career at the University of Miami, Fla. He reported to training camp last season and didn't like the tough routine, so he walked out. He returned 10 days later and gained 13 yards for the season as a seldom used substitute.

"I had doubts I could stand the tactics in training camp," Sullivan recalled. "They were too rigid, too military. That's why I left. I came back because I felt I made a mistake and I felt training camp was almost over. It was just as tough. I had no doubts about my ability. I can play with anyone."

McCormack, who took over the Eagles' coaching job this year, was impressed with Sullivan in spring workouts.

"For those of you who have been with us, you know he was high on our list since April," McCormack said after Sunday's fourth victory of the season. "He's the kind of a guy you want. He not only loves to play he loves to practice."

Sullivan, who was the National Conference's eighth best running back before Sunday's game, attributes his success to the change in coaching staff. He said everything was wide open when he came back in the spring. He developed a new attitude to go along with his natural talent.

"I'm learning all the time," Sullivan declared. "I'm starting to get use to our offensive line, its scheme of play."

Offensive tackle Jerry Sise more said of the hard running back, "he did a helluva job picking his holes and that made our blocking that much easier."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Statistics of the New York Giants football game: First downs 15, Rushes yards 44-147, Passing yards 141, Return yards 137, Fumbles lost 2-2, Penalties yards 5-48.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Statistics of the New York Philadelphia football game: First downs 25-113, Rushes yards 297, Passing yards 127, Return yards 137, Fumbles lost 1-40, Penalties yards 5-48.

TAKEN DOWN — Eagles' quarterback Roman Gabriel is taken down for a loss in the second quarter by the New York Giants' defensive end Carter Campbell (79) in game at Philadelphia Sunday. (UPI)

Odds Perfect In Grey Cup

TORONTO (UPI) — The oddsmakers called it right. The Ottawa Rough Riders, given a four point edge going into Sunday's Grey Cup game, rolled past the Edmonton Eskimos 22-18 to take the Canadian professional football championship.

But although they came out on the losing end of the score in the 61st renewal of the Grey Cup classic, the Eskimos had an overall statistical edge in play, picking up 298 yards net offense compared to 269 for the Riders.

The Eskimos' undoing proved to be injuries to their two quarterbacks, five fumbles—of which they lost three—and some effective Rough Rider work on their vaunted ground game.

The Eskimos were expected to dominate Ottawa on the ground with league-leading rusher Roy Bell carrying most of the load.

Patriots and the Oilers Case of Worst and Best

HOUSTON (UPI) — The New England Patriots played their best game of the season and the Houston Oilers played their worst. The result: New England 32 Houston 0.

"This was by far the worst game we've ever played," Coach Sid Gillman of the Oilers said after Sunday's game. "They beat us in every aspect of the game. I didn't see a single good thing happen today."

Coach Chuck Fairbanks said his young, inexperienced Patriots are finally jelling. This was their second straight victory and raised their record to 4-7.

"This is probably our best game," he said. "We combined a fine defensive effort with our offense today. We played well last week against Green Bay considering the strength of the opponent."

The Patriots beat the Packers 33-24. The most significant aspect of the Oiler victory was the shutout by a defense which has been the most vulnerable in the conference against the run.

"We've made a lot of mistakes because the team is so young and we picked up a lot of players late," Fairbanks said. "Now we're playing with more intensity and cutting down on the mistakes." A couple of the late comers are safety Ralph Anderson, who recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass against the Oilers, and tackle Arthur Moore who blocked a field goal to stop Houston's most serious scoring threat.

New England scored twice on the passing of Jim Plunkett, once on a yard run by Mark Herron, three times on field goals of 48, 46 and 36 yards by Jeff White and again when tackle Dave Rowe caught Dan Pastorini in the end zone. Plunkett's passes were five yards to tight end Bob Windsor in the first quarter and eight yards to wide receiver Reggie Rucker in the second period.

Big Ten Names Buckeyes

Ohio State Pick Kicks Up Storm

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roses are red, Michigan's blue, Southern Cal's back, Ohio State, too.

That's the Rose Bowl story in a nutshell, which lined up a repeat performance Sunday when the Big Ten athletic directors surprisingly voted to send Ohio State back to Pasadena in the wake of Saturday's 10-10 showdown with Michigan.

Southern Cal, which nailed down the 1972 national championship by walloping Ohio State 42-17 in the last Rose Bowl, clinched the Pacific-8 crown and a return trip by defeating UCLA 23-13.

And while the Big Ten vote raised a storm of protest — mostly in Michigan, naturally — the outcome of the game was sure to shuffle The Associated Press national rankings, which will be released tonight.

Last week, Ohio State was rated first, Michigan fourth, UCLA eighth and Southern Cal ninth. Runner-up Alabama defeated No. 7 Louisiana State 21-7 last Thursday after fifth-ranked Notre Dame walloped Air Force 48-15.

Friday, third-ranked Oklahoma blanked No. 10 Nebraska 27-0 and on Saturday, sixth-ranked Penn State downed Pittsburgh 35-13.

Possibly the man happiest with the tie was Alabama's Bear Bryant... and Bama's not even in the Big Ten. But the Crimson Tide hopes to move up to No. 1 in the rankings as a result of the tie.

"Both Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State and Bo Schembechler of Michigan are good friends of mine and I hate to see either one lose," Bryant joked. "I was kind of glad to see a tie."

Sunday's vote overshadowed Saturday's game in which Ohio State scored 10 points in the second period on Blair Con-way's 31-yard field goal and Pete Johnson's five-yard run and Michigan rallied in the fourth quarter on Mike Lan-try's 30-yard field goal and Dennis Franklin's 10-yard run.

Franklin later suffered a broken collarbone and his likely absence from the Rose Bowl apparently was one factor the Big Ten athletic directors took into consideration in sending Ohio State back. The vote was believed to be 6-4, with Ohio State, in addition to its own vote, receiving the nod from Iowa, Michigan State, North-western, Purdue and Wisconsin.

Schembechler was furious. "I'm very bitter," he said. "I regret it. It's a tragic thing for Big Ten football. The Big Ten administration hasn't been very tough and it hasn't been very good."

Ohio State, of course, thought the vote went its way because the Buckeyes have been ranked No. 1 most of the season.

"They voted for what they thought was the best team in the conference," said Ed Weaver, Ohio State's athletic director. "They wanted to send the team that was the most consistent. That had to be us. We were too good too long this season."

Hayes admitted he was "somewhat surprised," adding: "The tie game away from home was important. And I think they believe we are the most representative team of the conference."

On the West Coast, there was no doubt that Southern Cal de-served its return trip.

"USC is back where it be- longs — in the Rose Bowl," crowed Coach John McKay. "This was our best game of the season and undoubtedly it wasn't theirs."

Anthony Davis led the way with 145 yards and the game's first touchdown. Pat Haden threw a 16-yard scoring pass to Jake McKay and Chris Lima-helu kicked three field goals.

Pitt, which was tied for 20th in the ratings, scared Penn State by taking a 13-3 halftime lead on Tony Dorsett's 14-yard run and two field goals by Car-son Long, one a 50-yarder. But the Nittany Lions rallied on short runs by Bob Nagle and John Cappelletti. Tom Hull's 27-yard interception and Tom Shuman's 32-yard pass to Chuck Herd.

Meanwhile, a miserly defense held Pitt to minus 15 yards to- tal offense in the third period.

Elsewhere, No. 12 Texas Tech shaded Arkansas 24-17. No. 13 Arizona State routed Ari- zona 55-19 and won the Western Athletic Conference title and a trip to the Fiesta Bowl. No. 14 Houston blanked Wyoming 35-0. No. 16 North Carolina State clobbered Wake Forest 52-13. No. 17 Tulane lost to Maryland 42-9. No. 18 Oklahoma State bowed to Iowa State 21-12 and No. 19 Missouri dropped a 14-13 squeaker to Kansas, which was tied for 20th.

Miami of Ohio, ranked 15th, earlier completed a 10-0 regular season while No. 11 Texas crushed Texas A&M 42-13 last Thursday.

Just A Bad Night For Those Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a National Basketball Association game, but to Walt Frazier it looked more like football.

"Now I know how a quarterback feels — my teammates looked open but when I passed, it got intercepted," said Frazier after his Knicks were beaten 109-81 by the Capital Bullets Sunday night.

Almost nothing went right for the defending NBA champions while facing the Bullets' rugged defense.

The Bullets held an opponent under 100 points for the ninth time in 18 games this season.

In the other NBA games, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Philadelphia 76ers 105-96; the Boston Celtics trimmed the Cleveland Cavaliers 107-101; the Seattle SuperSonics stopped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 104-99 and the Los Angeles Lakers crushed the Portland Trail Blazers 137-109.

In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers nudged the New York Nets 126-124 and the Memphis Tams nipped the Denver Rockets 87-86.

Bucks 105, 76ers 96

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 31 points and Lucius Allen 23 to lead Milwaukee past Philadelphia 105-96. The victory pulled the Bucks 1½ games ahead of Chicago in the Midwest Division.

Celtics 107, Cavaliers 101

John Havlicek went on a third-quarter shooting spree to lead Boston to a 107-101 decision over Cleveland.

The game was tied at 76 with 2:42 to go in the third period before Havlicek broke loose, ripping off three straight baskets for an 82-76 lead. Havlicek finished with 25 points.

SuperSonics 104, Kings 99

John Brisker scored 47 points as Seattle handed Kansas City-Omaha its seventh straight loss. Brisker scored 28 of his points in the second half as the Sonics wiped out a Kings' lead.

Lakers 137, Trail Blazers 109

Gail Goodrich scored 40 points in three quarters, leading Los Angeles over Portland. Goodrich's total included his 12,000th NBA point.

THE WORLD CUP — The American team of Johnny Miller (L) and Jack Nicklaus shows the World Cup after winning the four day golf competition Sunday in Marbella, Spain. It was the U. S. 12th victory in the 21-year history of the cup. John and Jack finished six strokes ahead of South Africans Gary Player and Hugh Baiocchi. (UPI)

In World Cup Play

John-Nick Ask Change

MARBELLA, Spain (UPI) — pro of ex-king Carol of Romania, who finished with a 53-over-par 72-hole total of 341, while his partner Dumitriu Munteanu even outdid him with a 99-over-par 337.

He compared the World Cup, whose prize money totalled a mere $7,000, with the Olympics, where every country may enter without discrimination. International good will among golfers was one of its prime aims, he said.

But exactly for this reason, he added, the isolation of the top players should be lifted and they should be paired with team members of any country.

There had also been criticisms concerning team selection. There have been two flaws — the national selection system does not always produce the best teams, and top players such as Australia's Peter Thomson this year, sometimes decline after being invited.

"There are some things in the World Cup that we are reviewing with an eye to the future," a source close to the International Golf Association said. "Both in regard to team selection and to the competitive format, but we must go slowly and carefully not to offend any nation, sporting or political."

New Coach Helps Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings in general and Nick Libett in particular continue to prosper under New Coach Alex Delvecchio.

The Wings beat the California Golden Seals 3-2 Sunday night for their sixth straight home victory and their seventh in nine games overall since Delvecchio took over the National Hockey League club Nov. 7.

Considering they've won only nine games all season, that's not bad.

Libett has been the Detroit sparkplug lately with seven goals in the past five games. He got the winning goal against California with less than six minutes left, taking a pass from Bill Collins and beating Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche on a sharp angle shot from the right boards.

It was Libett's 14th goal of the year and his fourth game-winning score. He had only 19 goals all of last season.

In other NHL games, Boston dumped Los Angeles 3-1; The New York Rangers blanked Vancouver 5-0; Atlanta edged Buffalo 4-3; and Montreal downed Chicago 6-4.

The victory lifted the Wings into a tie with Buffalo for fifth place in the NHL East, the highest they've been all year.

Brins 3, Kings 1

Ken Genderson scored his 15th and 16th goals, both on power plays, and Phil Esposito collected three assists as Boston made it eight straight victories.

Rangers 5, Canucks 0

Eddie Giacomin registered his fourth shutout of the season and his 48th lifetime — tops among active NHL goalies. Giacomin turned away 29 shots in setting a Ranger record for career shutouts.

Pacers 126, Nets 124

George McGinnis scored 37 points and grabbed 25 rebounds to pace Indiana past New York 126-124. McGinnis waged a tremendous duel with New York's Julius Erving, who scored 43 points and collected 18 rebounds.

Tams 87, Rockets 86

Will Jones scored a field goal with 57 seconds remaining, providing Memphis with its 87-86 victory over Denver.

In Saturday's NBA games, it was Buffalo 143, Kansas City-Omaha 131; Golden State 107, New York 99; Milwaukee 112, Atlanta 92; Chicago 114, Detroit 112 in overtime and Los Angeles 113, Portland 108.

Saturday in the ABA: New York 119, Utah 113; San Antonio 121, Memphis 118 in two overtimes; Virginia 108, Indiana 102; Denver 127, Carolina 122 in overtime and Kentucky 124, San Diego 121.

Blades Are 'Alive'

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — The New York Golden Blades are alive and well in Cherry Hill, N.J. — temporarily.

"The Cherry Hill arena is not a major facility and the team playing here is just a temporary situation," said World Hockey Association President Dennis Murphy after the Blades, now called the Jersey Knights after their exodus from New York City, defeated the Quebec Nordiques 3-1 Sunday night.

"We want to evaluate all possibilities here," said Murphy. "There seem to be two options open to us. First we hope a group of businessmen from this area will come forth and take the team over and build a major facility.

"The other option is to sell the franchise to another city."

In other WHA games, Minnesota beat Winnipeg 5-3, Toronto defeated Vancouver 3-2 in overtime and Houston beat Edmonton 2-1.

In the National Hockey League, Boston beat Los Angeles 3-1, New York defeated Vancouver 5-2, Detroit edged California 3-2, Atlanta trimmed Buffalo 4-3, and Montreal beat Chicago 6-4.

The WHA took the team over after it was unable to meet expenses at Madison Square Garden because of dwindling attendance.

In their first appearance here Sunday, the Knights drew 4,062 fans in an arena with a capacity of 4,481.

Toros 3, Blazers 2

Center Gavin Kirk scored at 8:34 in overtime to give Toronto a 3-2 victory over Vancouver. Kirk's goal snapped a five-game Blazer winning streak and was the first loss for Andy Bathgate, Vancouver's new coach.

Fighting Saints 5, Jets 3

Steve Cardwell swept in the go-ahead goal at 8:20 of the third period to lead Minnesota to a 5-3 victory over Winnipeg. The goal was Cardwell's second of the game and put Minnesota in sole possession of the WHA's West Division.

Aeros 2, Oilers 1

Ed Hoekstra scored at 2:23 of the third period to lift Houston to a 2-1 victory over Edmonton and its third straight victory. The first-place Oilers have now lost three in a row.

Hartwick Gains Region Finals

ONEONTA, N.Y. (UPI)—Hartwick College earned the right to face Oneonta State next week for the NCAA New York State regional soccer championship by beating Long Island University 3-2 over the weekend.

Doug Wark scored the winning goal with less than 14 minutes left in the game Saturday in Hartwick's win over Long Island.

The winner of the Hartwick-Oneonta game will face the New England regional champion.

Flames 4, Sabres 3

Rey Comeau scored two goals for Atlanta including the game-winning at 7:01 of the final period. Buffalo's Rick Dudley thought he tied it with just one second left but referee Wally Harris ruled no goal.

Canadiens 6, Hawks 4

Montreal handed Chicago its first home loss of the year on the strength of two third-period goals by Peter Mahovich. He scored the winning goal midway through the period, stealing the puck from Hawk defenseman Phil Russell and firing a 15-footer past goalie Tony Esposito.

Saturday's NHL results: Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 2; Chicago 3, Toronto 1; Los Angeles 5, New York Rangers 5; tie; Detroit 6, New York Islanders 4; Philadelphia 1, St. Louis 0; and Minnesota 5, California 3.

Sunday's WHA results: Minnesota 5, Winnipeg 3; Houston 2, Edmonton 1; Toronto 3, Vancouver 2; and Jersey 3, Quebec 1.

Saturday's WHA results: Houston 5, Chicago 3; and Cleveland 2, Toronto 1.

Burris Paces Lowe Victory

KINGSTON

Hot-shooting Ron Burris led his Lowe's Pool team into first place in the National Division of the YMCA "A" basketball league with a pair of victories over Handle Bar and Hawkins Raiders.

Burris canned 33 as the Poolmen held off Handle Bar in the second half to win an 80-77 upset. A. J. Murphy had 22 for the losers of that one. Dave Whitaker pumped in 16 for Hawkins, but that didn't do any good either. Burris countered with 25 points as his team pulled away in the fourth period to win a close 53-51 decision.

Adour Feature Winner In Raceway's Matinee

MONTICELLO

Obviously liking off track conditions of a day long rain, Adour scored a length victory over Air Race and Scratchoff in Monticello Raceway's Sunday matinee pacing feature. Driven by Claude Paradis, Adour turned in a 2:06.1 performance by zipping into the lead around the first turn and then playing hard to catch.

The seven year old returned $11.00, $6.00 and $3.60.

Picking mudders had to be a frustrating experience for many in the Sunday throng.

The third race perfecta of Gamecock Louise and Stan Lobb (5-6) paid $345.90, and Chance Castle returned $24.80 straight in winning the fifth race. Another off track winner was Down Under import, Sarah Scott A, the Aussie horse paying $20.40 to win.

The 1-1 daily double was worth $27.40. General Mark was piloted to a $7.00 win in the first by Dick Yakin. In the second, Ladye Sadye was a $10.00 number for driver Al Elsbree.

Weekend racing resumes at Monticello Thursday evening, with the track dark Monday through Wednesday this week.

Street Boss Is Acquitted On 8 Counts

BUFFALO (AP)—A retired department with the knowledge of jury returned its verdict on O'Connell Saturday after about 10 hours of deliberations.

Jury foreman Leonard Zermac told Justice Frederick M. Marshall that the jury was deadlocked on the other 11 counts, saying, "Your honor, unless we resort to fisticuffs, we could be here until Christmas and not change the position."

Marshall discharged the jury and continued O'Connell in $5,000 bail. The Erie County district attorney's office must now review the case and decide whether to seek a new trial on the remaining counts.

O'Connell was specifically acquitted of third-degree conspiracy, second-degree grand larceny and five counts of first-degree offering false instruments for filing, namely time cards.

The counts still pending included third-degree conspiracy, second-degree grand larceny and nine counts of offering false instruments for filing.

Woman Is Killed In House Explosion

WALLKILL, N.Y. (UPI)—A woman was killed and four persons, including her husband and two children, were injured Sunday when a smoldering electrical fire caused an explosion in an apartment house near this Orange County city.

State police said Maria Estelle Rodriguez, 25, who lived in the two-story Brookside Apartments in the town of Wallkill, was killed when she opened the door to a second-floor community washroom and was met by an explosion.

Fire officials said the electrical blaze apparently began in the wall of a first-floor washroom and spread upward.

Doors and windows in the building were closed as the fire burned slowly and, when Mrs. Rodriguez opened the washroom door, letting in extra oxygen, the smoldering area exploded, troopers said.

Injured in the blaze were her husband, Martin, 26; their sons, Martin Jr., 4, and Samuel, 3, and Margaret Pantoja, 31, all occupants of the building.

Police have termed the death accidental. They said the man apparently tripped early in the morning and crashed through the window.

The victim was identified as Jerry DiGangi. Leeds state police said he apparently returned to his room at about 6 a. m. Sunday morning. Another guest at the hotel said he heard a loud crashing noise at about 6:40 a. m. and discovered DiGangi's body lying on the pavement in the courtyard below.

DiGangi died of a fractured skull and severe internal injuries, according to police.

Troopers said the window DiGangi fell through was only 19 inches from the floor. Police said DiGangi and several other companions were staying at the hotel for the weekend.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, November 27

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The past several days and their accent upon policies, motives and decisions are behind. Idealistic concepts at the present time can be made a practical reality. Place more emphasis on present and future activities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Get together with bigwigs and learn how to put your affairs in practical order so you have greater success in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Get the data you need to improve your position in business matters and become a more affluent person. Show that you have character.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You have made many promises that need to be carried through so get an early start on such. Show increased devotion to loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): It is better you find out what your true position with an associate is by direct questioning instead of learning secondhand.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You have vital affairs to handle today so don't be foolish and go off on any tangents. Plan time for improving your health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Creative work you have in mind requires more precision if it is to pay off well. Show others you are a person of considerable charm.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You can now play the role of peacemaker at home and get a problem straightened out quickly and well. Make plans for the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Take the time to do important errands before engaging in routine tasks. Listen carefully to fine ideas of your associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Go thorough with a plan you have formulated and gain excellent results. Obtaining data from experts can be very helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Find the right way to make yourself look more charming and become a more dynamic person. Then go after personal goals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Forget about going off on any tangents and get busy with financial and practical affairs. Avoid the limelight this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look to a good friend to regain a feeling of self-confidence. Engage in social activities tonight but be sure to guard your speech.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those quiet young people who understands the importance of being earnest and practical so be sure to direct the education along business lines. Give the right moral and religious training to set the right pattern for life. Sports are good here. A bright future in this chart.

Oswald: "A lucky slam will decide most Swiss matches. Bad slam bidding decides many more."

Jim: "The bidding at both tables started with an artificial two clubs. There was a two-diamond overcall and a two-heart bid by North. At one table South jumped right to six spades and North passed. At the other table the bidding continued as shown in the box with South making the final winning bid of seven."

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TENSION: (Q) My aunt is a nun, and she has more social life than my mother. My dad never takes Mom out. He always tells her she is wrong. He outs her down.

She gets even with him by refusing to talk to him. She just scowls and doesn't say a word. They don't get along at all.

It is so tense. I really feel it. Is there anything I can do?—16 in South Carolina.

(A) Many teen-agers have parents like yours. They do not face up to the differences between them and life turns into a battle—sometimes noisy, sometimes silent.

By being straightforward and open with your mother and your father, you may be able to persuade them that they would be better off if they could TALK OUT their differences.

TOO YOUNG? (Q) My parents won't let me go out with girls. They say I am too young. What do you think?—14 in Texas.

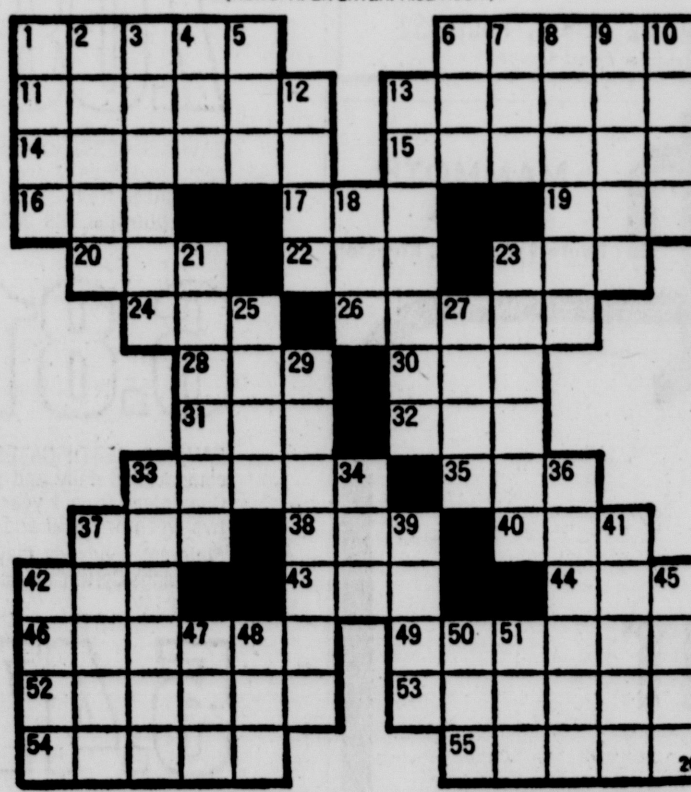

(A) I think you are old enough for social involvement with girls! This does not necessarily include dates. But it does include parties, dances and other chaperoned affairs. It also includes visits to a girl's house in the afternoon or evening when at least one of her parents is at home.

Ford Nomination Slated Tuesday in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of Gerald R. Ford to be vice president and energy legislation share top billing this week as Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess.

The Senate, starting debate today on the Ford nomination, is to vote on confirmation Tuesday.

No senator as announced he intends to vote against the nomination, unanimously approved by the Senate Rules Committee after its examination of Ford and his record.

The House Judiciary Committee, still conducting its hearings on President Nixon's selection of Ford to replace Spiro T. Agnew, is expected to act later in the week.

The House, meanwhile, is scheduled to vote this week on a bill requiring year-round Daylight Saving Time on an experimental basis until April 1975. The measure is a response to part of President Nixon's legislative program to cope with the energy shortage.

After voting on Ford, the Senate is to take up a bill to roll back the salary of the attorney general in an effort to make

Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, constitutionally eligible for appointment to the Cabinet post.

The Senate Judiciary Committee reported the bill last week without recommendation. It had received conflicting testimony on whether the measure could overcome a constitutional ban on the appointment of a Congress member to an office for which the salary has been increased during his elected term.

Saxbe, whose term does not expire until Jan. 3, 1975, was a member of the Senate in 1969 when the salaries of Cabinet members were raised from $35,000 to $60,000.

Also slated in the Senate is floor action on a House-passed bill to raise the limit on the national debt to $475.7 billion through June 30, 1974. A bipartisan effort is being made to attach a measure for public financing of federal elections to the bill.

The present $465-billion temporary debt ceiling expires Friday, and without new legislation the Treasury would run out of operating funds in about a week.

And the House is expected to take up a bill providing for a special Watergate prosecutor. It would require the prosecutor to keep the House Judiciary Committee informed of any facts relevant to its preliminary inquiry into possible impeachment proceedings against Nixon.

Cox and Jaworski...The Difference

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big difference between Archibald Cox and Leon Jaworski is the difference between a constitutional lawyer and a prosecutor.

And many lawyers on the special Watergate prosecutor's staff, who had been deeply suspicious of Jaworski, have come to like that difference.

But still unanswered is whether it will lead Jaworski into the same sort of confrontation with the White House that led to the firing of Cox.

"I want such tapes as are material and I intend to get them," Jaworski told the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering a bill that would cloud his status by establishing a court-appointed special prosecutor.

"I may move a little faster than some people would," Jaworski told the committee.

He was sworn in as special prosecutor Nov. 5 and two days later sent the White House a formal request for still another tape of a presidential conversation.

Jaworski's readiness to move quickly to obtain more evidence impressed staff lawyers accustomed to Cox's tendency to agonize over fine legal points that might prove more significant to the Supreme Court than to a federal grand jury.

"Archie was always looking ahead to the appeals," one staff member said. "Jaworski has more of a prosecutor's mentality."

The favorable impression Jaworski has made on his staff and on Congress appears to have undercut chances for passage of a court-appointed prosecutor bill.

So far, the White House has given the new prosecutor far more promises of cooperation than Cox ever received. Gone are the claims of executive privilege and the need to maintain the confidentiality of presidential discussions with aides.

But it has only been promises, so far. Neither Jaworski nor U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has received any of the documents or tapes Cox went to court to obtain.

When Cox, after two court decisions upholding his right to obtain White House tapes, defied a presidential order to halt his efforts, President Nixon fired him on Oct. 20.

The dismissal left Cox's staff stunned and embittered but determined to stay intact, if possible, and continue its investigations.

The White House too was stunned by the public outcry at Cox's dismissal. Within a week, the President agreed to give Sirica the tapes Cox had subpoenaed and to permit Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork to name a new special prosecutor.

Bork's choice of Jaworski, head of a huge Houston, Tex., law firm and a former president of the American Bar Association, was greeted skeptically by the staff Cox had recruited. They viewed Jaworski as likely to compromise rather than risk a confrontation with the President.

Jaworski has received a commitment from the White House that Cox had never gotten. Jaworski said that whenever the White House says that material must be withheld in the interests of national security, he or someone he designates will be allowed to examine the tapes or documents to determine if the claim is valid.
